Polish Officials Cheer Nixon's Toast To Peace

Vice President, Gomulka Confer For 5 1-2 Hours

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon, cheered by the Polish people at every turn, won the applause of Polish officials and foreign diplomats Monday night with a toast to peace.

The scene was the great hall of the palace of Poland's cabinet. The occasion was President Aleksandr Zawadzki's official reception for the vice president and Mrs. Nixon.

The reception came at the end of a day in which Nixon and President Eisenhower's brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, sat across a table from Poland's government and Communist party leaders and talked for five hours and 20 minutes, largely about their differences on international questions.

In offering a toast to Nixon, Zawadzki said the United States and Poland together had fought German militarism. He charged that "forces of revenge" still exist in West Germany.

Nixon recalled that President Eisenhower had seen the war destruction in Poland 14 years ago and that the vice president had seen Warsaw's reconstruction.

Frank Discussion

He reported that during the day's talks there were many differences frankly discussed, then added: "There was complete agreement on this one issue: What happened to Warsaw, what happened to Poland in the last war, to Poland that suffered in two wars, must not happen again either to Poland or any other country on earth."

The crowded hall burst into applause as his remark went home.

"I propose your health, prosperity and happiness and peace for the people of Poland and all the peoples of the earth."

Then he raised his glass and proclaimed in Polish: "Na zdorovyeh," the classical greeting "to health" in this part of the world.

Bands played the U.S. and Polish anthems on Nixon's arrival. He went along the line of the diplomatic colony shaking hands.

Head Home Wednesday

The Polish Communist party chief, Wladyslaw Gomulka was not there. Gomulka had interrupted his vacation in the country to attend the afternoon meeting, then returned to his villa before the reception began.

The Nixons go sightseeing Tuesday. Official functions are a lunch by Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz and a night reception by U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam.

The Nixons are scheduled to fly home Wednesday morning.

One exuberant worker clamped Nixon in a bear hug earlier in the day.

Cries of "Neexon, Neexon," "Vive America" and "Live 100 years" met the vice president as he drove through the streets. It was an echo of the huge and friendly welcome the Polish people gave Nixon Sunday on his arrival from Moscow.

The vice president discussed with Wladyslaw Gomulka, leader of the Polish Workers (Communist) party, a wide range of world issues, including the forthcoming trip to the United States of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and a return visit by President Eisenhower.

Steel Strike Negotiations Speeded Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations in the 20-day-old steel strike were stepped up Monday, but it was not clear whether pressure from Washington prompted the acceleration.

A joint meeting of industry and the United Steelworkers Union was held without any appreciable progress toward a settlement. Another joint session was scheduled for Tuesday by federal mediation chief Joseph F. Finnegan.

The only prior face-to-face peace talks since the strike of 500,000 steelworkers began at midnight July 14 was a week ago.

In Washington over the weekend, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell publicly rebuked both sides for their failure to sit down together and try to work out a settlement formula.

"This is no way to bargain," he said. "They cannot reach agreement unless they talk to each other."

Mitchell is serving as President Eisenhower's fact-finder in the strike.

The steelworkers struck in quest of a 15-cent-an-hour wage and benefits package. Pre-strike wages averaged $3.10 per hour. The union argued the increase could come out of industry profits without the necessity of a price rise in steel.

The company refused the demands on grounds a wage boost would force a price increase, and thus contribute to inflation.

In a delayed reaction to Mitchell's criticism, industry and the union each blamed the other during the day for prolonging the strike.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, said: "It will take more than mere meetings and discussions to end this strike. It will take a change of union attitude—it will take the emergence of a real desire by the union to end the strike without pursuing a course of further inflation."

President David J. McDonald of the union said it has been "seeking genuine collective bargaining from the very start of negotiations."

Chicago Probes Gang Slaying

CHICAGO (UPI) — A bullet-riddled auto salesman was left to die on the steps of a suburban hospital Monday in the area's second gangland-style shooting in two weeks.

Killed was Louis Fusaro, 25, Melrose Park, Ill. Police said he had no criminal record.

On July 19, Joseph Bronge, a small - time beer distributor, turned up at the same Melrose Park hospital. Both Fusaro and Bronge were shot in the head. Bronge still is in critical condition.

Police said they had found no motive for the Fusaro shooting. A witness said he saw a new model auto pull behind the hospital shortly after midnight. He said two men got out, dragged a third from the car's rear seat, then sped away.

Fusaro had been shot over the right eye and under the left arm. He was unconscious when found and police, at first hoping he might recover and talk, set up a bedside vigil. He died a few hours later.

Palace Sentry Rebels, Boots Woman Tourist

LONDON (AP)—Ah-one, ah-two, ah-three, ah-hup. The redcoat sentry at Buckingham Palace jerked to attention, advanced three paces and planted a precise and polished boot on the tender rear portion of a young woman tourist.

To his comrades in arms on the sentry detail-the most hated job in the British army—this made him a hero in the highest traditions of the crack guards regiments.

His colonel, however, decided it was conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, not to mention unchivalrous, y'know.

And the result is that the unnamed guardsman who kicked out is confined to his barracks for the next 10 days.

Trouble between the guards and the tourists around the palace has been boiling up all this boiling summer. The tourists were thicker than usual Sunday because Queen Elizabeth II was just back from her North American tour.

The soldiers are supposed to stand still as statues before their sentry boxes, sweltering in red coats, thick blue pants and heavy bearskin hats, unflinchingly immobile even when the Queen's Welsh Terriers nip at their ankles.

Cool young cats in low cut dresses like to snuggle up close to them, trying to provoke the sentries into flickering an unmilitary eyelid.

This one, however, flickered with his foot.

And the girl—some papers said she was American but there was no way of checking—got angry and complained to a policeman.

The policeman passed the complaint to the Coldstream Guards headquarters, and military discipline took its iron course.

Khrushchev Tough But Has Earthy Charm

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev, one of the Soviet Union's most traveled men, will take to America an earthy charm that partly masks the fact he is one of the toughest and mightiest men alive.

He also is expected to take along his wife, son and daughter.

The announcement of Khrushchev's decision to go to America was made at a Soviet Foreign Ministry news conference that lasted only 10 minutes. No questions were allowed.

The news caught the diplomatic corps in Moscow by surprise except for a few people who evidently had been tipped off a few hours earlier.

Although President Eisenhower pointed out the visit is not displacing a summit conference, it looked to some observers here as though it would be a meeting at the crest of the summit.

His success in bringing off the visit after so much restraint expressed by Eisenhower at earlier news conferences was looked upon here as a great coup for the pudgy Soviet leader.

To many it looked like a recovery from a somewhat troubled diplomatic year for Khrushchev.

A Scandinavian summer tour was called off because of mounting opposition in those countries.

His proposals on Berlin were not accepted by the West.

A visit to America would act as an excellent antidote as seen in diplomatic circles here.

In the three years since the Hungarian revolution Khrushchev has traveled from one end of the Communist-run world to the other—and beyond.

Khrushchev is a Communist through and through but can treat it gaily as well as seriously.

East, West Demos Feud Over Nominee

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — A feud between easterners and westerners over the Democratic presidential scramble flared along the sidelines Monday at the 51st annual governor's conference.

Connecticut Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff, who is plugging U. S. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts for the Democratic nomination next year, was pitted against Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California.

Brown wants to be at least a favorite son candidate for the nomination—and maybe more. He is making motions toward trying to line up a bloc of support built around Democratic governors from the Far West.

In the Republican political arena it is known that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York now intends to decide by Nov. 1 whether to challenge Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the GOP presidential nomination in 1960.

Rockefeller, Ribicoff and the other governors split the day up among work, play and formalities.

At the first formal conference session they heard Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico, in a welcoming address, call on the United States to take the lead in bringing about some new inventive kind of political federation in the Americas to make them a "tightly knit, a formidable bulwark of strength for the free world."

The state officials heard and applauded word that President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will trade visits this fall.

They wound up their first conference meeting at noon and hurried 20 miles down the coast to a beach as guests of Gov. and Mrs. Rockefeller. They were back to town at night for their formal state dinner.

The governors voted at their initial session to make their operating rules more democratic with a small d. From now on their chairman will be elected by a vote of the entire conference, not of its executive committee.

At a midday news conference, Brown told questioners he will be California's favorite son at the Democratic National Convention next year. He declared this would be at the request of the state's Democratic members in the Senate and House and 80 per cent of those in the state Legislature.

At a news conference Sunday, Ribicoff criticized the favorite son device as a means of ganging up on a leader—as he says Sen. Kennedy clearly is.

Ribicoff said he didn't consider Brown or any other Democratic governor a serious candidate for the Democratic political prize in 1960.

Two Fined $100 For Driving Same Car While Tipsy

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Two persons were fined $100 each in Municipal Court Monday for driving the same car at the same time while under the influence of liquor.

Lawrence Abbott, 36, told police he was teaching Miss Rita Smith how to drive.

Police said the car went through a stop sign, plunged into a ditch, swung back onto the road, mowed down shrubs on the other side, and came to rest against a house porch.

Civil Rights Bill Clears Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Advocates of civil rights legislation succeeded Monday in getting a bill up for consideration in the Senate Judiciary Committee. The vote was 10-5.

All opposition votes were cast by the five southern Democrats on the committee—but they let the motion of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo) come to a vote without trying to talk it to death.

The motion, as Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss) had observed several weeks ago, was subject to unlimited debate.

The outcome of Monday's meeting, after two previously unsuccessful attempts to bring a bill up, was in line with indications southern senators may grudgingly give a bit of ground if they think they can hold a civil rights measure within some bounds.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he was strengthened in his belief a bill will be approved by the committee, a graveyard for civil rights legislation in the past.

However, southern opponents still have plenty of weapons at their disposal to delay action if they want to use them.

Anti-Freeze Drink Kills Three Convicts

PUTNAMVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Three Indiana State Farm convicts died from poisonous cocktails of anti-freeze filched from the institution's garage.

Walter C. Hock, superintendent of the prison farm, said at least 12 other prisoners were sickened by the drink.

Two of seven prisoners rushed to Robert Long Hospital in Indianapolis died Monday. Their names were not immediately disclosed.

Mayor Says New York Ready To Cooperate

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City will cooperate to any extent requested by the State Department should Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev visit the city, Mayor Robert F. Wagner said Monday.

"I am sure that after Premier Khrushchev gets a first-hand view of the wonders of New York he will have fewer doubts about the workings of our own system," Wagner said.

Most Of Top Legislators Applaud Bid

Invitation To Red Boss Has General Bipartisan Support

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congressional leaders Monday generally hailed as a hopeful cold war move the forthcoming exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.), GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.), and Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, were among those giving prompt support to the President's surprise announcement.

But there were dissenters too. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) denounced the invitation to Khrushchev as a "national disgrace" and a "dark day for the free world." Doubts also were voiced by Sens. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) and Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.).

"All Right" With Rayburn

Speaker Sam Rayburn (Tex.), when asked about the Soviet premier's visit in September, said only "it's all right with me for him to come—if the Preident wants him."

However, most congressional comment showed a bipartisan support which in part may have stemmed from the fact that the President discussed the visits with a goodly number of House and Senate leaders before making his announcement at a special news conference.

Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield (Mont.) a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the President's decision was "easy" to make. Now that it is made, he said, there should be "no petty, partisan quibbling."

Johnson Hopeful

Democratic Leader Johnson said "this is a type of exchange which could do much for the whole world."

Fulbright said he welcomed the Khrushchev visit. But he said no one should assume such exchanges "will solve all our problems with the Soviet Union."

Dirksen said that not only this generation "but history as well will applaud the bold move by President Eisenhower."

If successful in easing tensions, he said, the plan would "enshrine the President as the boldest and most determined peace maker in many generations."

Toledo Stores Create "Mall" As Experiment

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Thousands of potted plants, trees and shrubs were moved into a four-block area of downtown Toledo Monday. Automobiles were blocked out.

The newly created "mall" is intended to test during a 45-day period the extent to which downtown traffic snarls are hurting the business of merchants.

Within the mall area which runs for two blocks on Adams St. and Madison Ave., bounded by St. Clair and Huron, the pedestrian will be king. Because of the greenery and flowers, jaywalking will be a joy; and without automobile traffic, will hold no hazard.

Through eight archway entrances, pedestrians will enter the mall area. Promoting the project is the Downtown Toledo Associates, a merchant group.

Army Ready For Major Role In Any Nuclear War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army put in a claim Monday to a major role in any nuclear war and showed off a futuristic soldier and electronic brain equipment as evidence.

At the opening of the annual convention of the Assn. of the United States Army, speakers and officials sought to counter any belief that the foot soldier is obsolete. This, they said, is a modern army.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff, contended a modern Army "is capable of conquering without destroying, of defending without reducing the defended area to radioactive waste."

He said armed men on the ground can exert more control than the threat of millions of tons of firepower. The Army long has been critical of the mass destruction features of the Air Force's strategic air war plans.

On hand was a soldier in the battle dress designed for a nuclear battleground and for the still more advanced era beyond 1965.

Some of this equipment already is in standard use by the Army, including clothing protection against radioactive contamination. But some of it is still in the development stage.

Among other things, the soldier wore a belt of rockets which, the Army hopes, will make it possible for him to leap from precipices and to take giant jumps over streams and trees.

AN INVITATION—President Eisenhower holds a written statement as he announces at a special news conference yesterday that he has invited Premier Nikita Khrushchev of the Soviet Union to visit the U. S. in September. The President also said he will go to Russia later in the year, and to Europe this month to confer with British, French and West German leaders. (AP Photofax)

Rayburn Backs House Group's Labor Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) chose a middle road between President Eisenhower and organized labor Monday by throwing his support behind the labor reform bill drafted by the House Labor Committee.

Rayburn also said labor legislation would be called up for action in the House soon after the Rules Committee clears the bill. The committee may consider the measure Tuesday, but has made no definite commitment.

The speaker told a news conference the committee bill would do "a splendid job" of controlling racketeers without punishing legitimate labor leaders. He said he would oppose any bill that was anti-labor, anti-industry or "anti-anybody."

The President is backing a stiffer measure supported by Republicans and some Democrats. the other side, the AFL-CIO has denounced the committee bill and has called for its defeat unless it is softened by amendment on the House floor.

Among other things, the committee bill would require public disclosure and reports on union finances and operations, would bar "extortion picketing," and would ban convicted felons from holding office in unions or in employer associations dealing with unions.

The stiffer substitute calls for tighter curbs on secondary boycotts and organization picketing.

Rayburn appealed to the House to consider reform legislation in a spirt of "justice, fair play and equal opportunity," and not in heat and anger. He said no legislation should be passed just to punish someone.

In endorsing the committee bill without qualification, he said it would bring about "great labor democracy."

Ike Will Tour USSR, Khrush To Visit U.S.

Soviet Premier Will Arrive Next Month; Itinerary Awaited

WASHINGTON (AP)—In an historic step pointed toward world peace, President Eisenhower announced Monday that he is going to visit the Soviet Union and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is coming to America.

Eisenhower officially broke the news—unprecedented in some respects and carrying potentialities that can only be guessed at—to a hurriedly called news conference.

Moscow radio, in a rare example of East-West cooperation, already was telling the world the same thing.

"This is a personal visit," Eisenhower said, "with the hope that it will do something to promote understanding and possibly progress toward peace in the world."

He spoke, too, of his hope to "melt a little bit of the ice that seems to freeze our relationships."

Red Boss Due Around Sept. 15

No dates were set, but Vice President Richard M. Nixon, homeward bound from the Soviet Union, said at Warsaw he expects the Red premier to arrive in the United States around Sept. 15.

Eisenhower plans to return the visit later in the fall.

The President disclosed in passing that early in July he started the correspondence which led to the announcement, and didn't tell Nixon about it until the day the vice president left for the Soviet Union.

The President, gray-suited and pink-cheeked, gave his news in a casual manner, businesslike, without being abrupt.

In something of an understatement, he said: "I think there may be enough special interest in the matter as to justify you people taking your time to come here this morning."

Met In Geneva In 1955

He read the joint statement of the two governments, which had this as its crowning paragraph: "Both governments express the hope that the forthcoming visits will help create better understanding between the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialistic Republics and will promote the cause of peace."

The statement said Khrushchev will visit Washington two or three days, having informal talks with Eisenhower. He will spend 10 days or so traveling about the country.

The two leaders have met once before, at the inconclusive summit meeting at Geneva in 1955.

The State Department, besieged by inquiries as to what cities Khrushchev will visit, promised an itinerary as soon as it can be worked out.

But before Khrushchev comes, Eisenhower will go to Europe later this month to talk things over with the French and British.

He noted in this connection: "Since I am to see the other member of the four powers that undertook the control of Germany after the war, I thought it would probably be a good thing to see the other two."

He'll also see the West German leaders, caught in the middle of the bitter battle between East and West over the future of Berlin and all Germany.

The President stressed that his trips abroad have no direct connection with any summit meeting

West Leaders Acclaim Visits

GENEVA (AP)—Western leaders expressed hope Monday the exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Nikita Khrushchev will be the first step toward a long truce in the cold war.

The atmosphere of optimism created by the announced visits took most of the gloom out of the deadlock at the foreign ministers conference. It fizzles out in probable failure Wednesday.

While many leaders throughout the world acclaimed the visits the foreign ministers sought merely a dignified way of ending their fruitless 10-week-old negotiations over Soviet demands that U.S., British and French garrisons pull out of West Berlin.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain, from his country home in Sussex, praised the exchange of visits.

Macmillan said he felt sure the visits will lead to the East-West summit conference which he has long advocated as the best way to settle cold war disputes.

Rockefeller, Ribicoff and the other governors split the day up among work, play and formalities.

At the first formal conference session they heard Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico, in a welcoming address, call on the United States to take the lead in bringing about some new inventive kind of political federation in the Americas to make them a "tightly knit, a formidable bulwark of strength for the free world."

The state officials heard and applauded word that President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will trade visits this fall.

They wound up their first conference meeting at noon and hurried 20 miles down the coast to a beach as guests of Gov. and Mrs. Rockefeller. They were back to town at night for their formal state dinner.

The governors voted at their initial session to make their operating rules more democratic with a small d. From now on their chairman will be elected by a vote of the entire conference, not of its executive committee.

At a midday news conference, Brown told questioners he will be California's favorite son at the Democratic National Convention next year. He declared this would be at the request of the state's Democratic members in the Senate and House and 80 per cent of those in the state Legislature.

At a news conference Sunday, Ribicoff criticized the favorite son device as a means of ganging up on a leader—as he says Sen. Kennedy clearly is.

Ribicoff said he didn't consider Brown or any other Democratic governor a serious candidate for the Democratic political prize in 1960.

Two Fined $100 For Driving Same Car While Tipsy

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Two persons were fined $100 each in Municipal Court Monday for driving the same car at the same time while under the influence of liquor.

Lawrence Abbott, 36, told police he was teaching Miss Rita Smith how to drive.

Police said the car went through a stop sign, plunged into a ditch, swung back onto the road, mowed down shrubs on the other side, and came to rest against a house porch.

Civil Rights Bill Clears Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Advocates of civil rights legislation succeeded Monday in getting a bill up for consideration in the Senate Judiciary Committee. The vote was 10-5.

All opposition votes were cast by the five southern Democrats on the committee—but they let the motion of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo) come to a vote without trying to talk it to death.

The motion, as Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss) had observed several weeks ago, was subject to unlimited debate.

The outcome of Monday's meeting, after two previously unsuccessful attempts to bring a bill up, was in line with indications southern senators may grudgingly give a bit of ground if they think they can hold a civil rights measure within some bounds.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he was strengthened in his belief a bill will be approved by the committee, a graveyard for civil rights legislation in the past.

However, southern opponents still have plenty of weapons at their disposal to delay action if they want to use them.

Anti-Freeze Drink Kills Three Convicts

PUTNAMVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Three Indiana State Farm convicts died from poisonous cocktails of anti-freeze filched from the institution's garage.

Walter C. Hock, superintendent of the prison farm, said at least 12 other prisoners were sickened by the drink.

Two of seven prisoners rushed to Robert Long Hospital in Indianapolis died Monday. Their names were not immediately disclosed.

Mayor Says New York Ready To Cooperate

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City will cooperate to any extent requested by the State Department should Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev visit the city, Mayor Robert F. Wagner said Monday.

"I am sure that after Premier Khrushchev gets a first-hand view of the wonders of New York he will have fewer doubts about the workings of our own system," Wagner said.

Most Of Top Legislators Applaud Bid

Invitation To Red Boss Has General Bipartisan Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Congressional leaders Monday generally hailed as a hopeful cold war move the forthcoming exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.), GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.), and Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, were among those giving prompt support to the President's surprise announcement.

But there were dissenters too. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) denounced the invitation to Khrushchev as a "national disgrace" and a "dark day for the free world." Doubts also were voiced by Sens. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) and Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.).

"All Right" With Rayburn

Speaker Sam Rayburn (Tex.), when asked about the Soviet premier's visit in September, said only "it's all right with me for him to come—if the Predient wants him."

However, most congressional comment showed a bipartisan support which in part may have stemmed from the fact that the President discussed the visits with a goodly number of House and Senate leaders before making his announcement at a special news conference.

Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield (Mont.) a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the President's decision was "easy" to make. Now that it is made, he said, there should be "no petty, partisan quibbling."

Johnson Hopeful

Democratic Leader Johnson said "this is a type of exchange which could do much for the whole world."

Fulbright said he welcomed the Khrushchev visit. But he said no one should assume such exchanges "will solve all our problems with the Soviet Union."

Dirksen said that not only this generation "but history as well will applaud the bold move by President Eisenhower."

If successful in easing tensions, he said, the plan would "enshrine the President as the boldest and most determined peace maker in many generations."

Toledo Stores Create "Mall" As Experiment

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Thousands of potted plants, trees and shrubs were moved into a four-block area of downtown Toledo Monday. Automobiles were blocked out.

The newly created "mall" is intended to test during a 45-day period the extent to which downtown traffic snarls are hurting the business of merchants.

Within the mall area which runs for two blocks on Adams St. and Madison Ave., bounded by St. Clair and Huron, the pedestrian will be king. Because of the greenery and flowers, jaywalking will be a joy; and without automobile traffic, will hold no hazard.

Through eight archway entrances, pedestrians will enter the mall area. Promoting the project is the Downtown Toledo Associates, a merchant group.

Army Ready For Major Role In Any Nuclear War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army put in a claim Monday to a major role in any nuclear war and showed off a futuristic soldier and electronic brain equipment as evidence.

At the opening of the annual convention of the Assn. of the United States Army, speakers and officials sought to counter any belief that the foot soldier is obsolete. This, they said, is a modern army.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff, contended a modern Army "is capable of conquering without destroying, of defending without reducing the defended area to radioactive waste."

He said armed men on the ground can exert more control than the threat of millions of tons of firepower. The Army long has been critical of the mass destruction features of the Air Force's strategic air war plans.

On hand was a soldier in the battle dress designed for a nuclear battleground and for the still more advanced era beyond 1965.

Some of this equipment already is in standard use by the Army, including clothing protection against radioactive contamination. But some of it is still in the development stage.

Among other things, the soldier wore a belt of rockets which, the Army hopes, will make it possible for him to leap from precipices and to take giant jumps over streams and trees.

AN INVITATION—President Eisenhower holds a written statement as he announces at a special news conference yesterday that he has invited Premier Nikita Khrushchev of the Soviet Union to visit the U. S. in September. The President also said he will go to Russia later in the year, and to Europe this month to confer with British, French and West German leaders. (AP Photofax)

Rayburn Backs House Group's Labor Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) chose a middle road between President Eisenhower and organized labor Monday by throwing his support behind the labor reform bill drafted by the House Labor Committee.

Rayburn also said labor legislation would be called up for action in the House soon after the Rules Committee clears the bill. The committee may consider the measure Tuesday, but has made no definite commitment.

The speaker told a news conference the committee bill would do "a splendid job" of controlling racketeers without punishing legitimate labor leaders. He said he would oppose any bill that was anti-labor, anti-industry or "anti-anybody."

The President is backing a stiffer measure supported by Republicans and some Democrats. the other side, the AFL-CIO has denounced the committee bill and has called for its defeat unless it is softened by amendment on the House floor.

Among other things, the committee bill would require public disclosure and reports on union finances and operations, would bar "extortion picketing," and would ban convicted felons from holding office in unions or in employer associations dealing with unions.

The stiffer substitute calls for tighter curbs on secondary boycotts and organization picketing.

Rayburn appealed to the House to consider reform legislation in a spirt of "justice, fair play and equal opportunity," and not in heat and anger. He said no legislation should be passed just to punish someone.

In endorsing the committee bill without qualification, he said it would bring about "great labor democracy."

Ike Will Tour USSR, Khrush To Visit U.S.

Soviet Premier Will Arrive Next Month; Itinerary Awaited

WASHINGTON (AP)—In an historic step pointed toward world peace, President Eisenhower announced Monday that he is going to visit the Soviet Union and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is coming to America.

Eisenhower officially broke the news—unprecedented in some respects and carrying potentialities that can only be guessed at—to a hurriedly called news conference.

Moscow radio, in a rare example of East-West cooperation, already was telling the world the same thing.

"This is a personal visit," Eisenhower said, "with the hope that it will do something to promote understanding and possibly progress toward peace in the world."

He spoke, too, of his hope to "melt a little bit of the ice that seems to freeze our relationships."

Red Boss Due Around Sept. 15

No dates were set, but Vice President Richard M. Nixon, homeward bound from the Soviet Union, said at Warsaw he expects the Red premier to arrive in the United States around Sept. 15.

Eisenhower plans to return the visit later in the fall.

The President disclosed in passing that early in July he started the correspondence which led to the announcement, and didn't tell Nixon about it until the day the vice president left for the Soviet Union.

The President, gray-suited and pink-cheeked, gave his news in a casual manner, businesslike, without being abrupt.

In something of an understatement, he said: "I think there may be enough special interest in the matter as to justify you people taking your time to come here this morning."

Met In Geneva In 1955

He read the joint statement of the two governments, which had this as its crowning paragraph: "Both governments express the hope that the forthcoming visits will help create better understanding between the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialistic Republics and will promote the cause of peace."

The statement said Khrushchev will visit Washington two or three days, having informal talks with Eisenhower. He will spend 10 days or so traveling about the country.

The two leaders have met once before, at the inconclusive summit meeting at Geneva in 1955.

The State Department, besieged by inquiries as to what cities Khrushchev will visit, promised an itinerary as soon as it can be worked out.

But before Khrushchev comes, Eisenhower will go to Europe later this month to talk things over with the French and British.

He noted in this connection: "Since I am to see the other member of the four powers that undertook the control of Germany after the war, I thought it would probably be a good thing to see the other two."

He'll also see the West German leaders, caught in the middle of the bitter battle between East and West over the future of Berlin and all Germany.

The President stressed that his trips abroad have no direct connection with any summit meeting

West Leaders Acclaim Visits

GENEVA (AP)—Western leaders expressed hope Monday the exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Nikita Khrushchev will be the first step toward a long truce in the cold war.

The atmosphere of optimism created by the announced visits took most of the gloom out of the deadlock at the foreign ministers conference. It fizzles out in probable failure Wednesday.

While many leaders throughout the world acclaimed the visits the foreign ministers sought merely a dignified way of ending their fruitless 10-week-old negotiations over Soviet demands that U.S., British and French garrisons pull out of West Berlin.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain, from his country home in Sussex, praised the exchange of visits.

Macmillan said he felt sure the visits will lead to the East-West summit conference which he has long advocated as the best way to settle cold war disputes.

Va. Board Rejects Pupil Transfer Bids

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Virginia Pupil Placement Board Monday rejected or deferred all applications before it from children, both white and Negro, seeking transfers to other schools.

In effect, this meant the board turned down Negro requests for assignment to white schools in Charlottesville, Norfolk, Staunton, Lynchburg, Fairfax County and Floyd County.

An announcement of the board's action, issued after a closed meeting, gave no reasons for the decisions.

No breakdown of names and number of Negroes involved in each locality was available from the board. A spokesman explained the board's application forms and records do not show the race of the applicants for transfers.

The spokesman said many of the applications were rejected outright. Some, however, were deferred while the pupils seeking transfers were asked for more information.

Transfer applications rejected or not approved included an undetermined number of would-be transfers from one white school to another.

In Fairfax County, 26 Negroes applied for admission to eight white schools. In forwarding the applications to the Pupil Placement Board, the county school board recommended that one be approved and the other 25 be denied.

Storekeeper Fined Under Anti-Smut Law

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 47-year-old storekeeper was fined $25 in Southwestern Police Court Monday for selling obscene literature to a 12-year-old boy.

The conviction of George Whiting was the first here under the anti-smut law which went into effect June 1. The law passed by the General Assembly forbids the sale or display of obscene literature to those under 18.

Md., Calif. GOP Senators Clash Over Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Republican senators, John Marshall Butler (Md) and Thomas H. Kuchel (Calif), got into a Senate floor rhubarb Monday over Butler's charge California is hogging defense contracts.

At one point Kuchel suggested the Maryland senator was violating a Senate rule which states that members should not speak offensively of states of the union.

Butler snapped that he never had violated the Senate rules and asked Kuchel to apologize.

"I said nothing about one of the sister states of the union, other than that it has a fine baseball team, wonderful fruit, beautiful scenery, marvelous climate, and almost all of the defense contracts," Butler said.

Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif) put in that he did not consider Butler had reflected on the State of California.

"If he reflected on anyone, it was on those in the Pentagon who run the defense contract business," said Engle. "And currently the Pentagon happens to be in the control of the party of the senator from Maryland."

It all started when Butler took the floor to offer a resolution for an investigation of what he called the "California first and foremost" policy in defense contract awards.

Butler said he was disturbed because conferees on the defense appropriation bill last week knocked out funds for 11 F27 jet-prop planes built by the Fairchild Corp., Hagerstown, Md.

"The fact that the Fairchild plant is not located on the West Coast may very well have been the reason for its being shunted aside last week," Butler declared, adding that 27 per cent of all defense buying now is done in California.

Kuchel then rose to ask the presiding officer, Sen. Howard W. Cannon (D-Nev) if there were not a rule "in regard to a senator's speaking about one of the states of the American union?"

Cannon replied that the parliamentarian advised there was a rule stating it is not proper for a senator to speak offensively of a state.

"I suggest," said Kuchel, "that perhaps it would be more becoming to my colleague, who is on the Judiciary Committee, if he would also demonstrate his enthusiastic support for following the rules of the Senate."

Butler then declared he never had violated the rules and demanded an apology.

"I insist that the senator from California be a little more careful about how he speaks of other United States senators," the Maryland senator snapped.

"I suggest," retorted Kuchel, "that the senator from Maryland be a little more careful about how he speaks of one of the sister states of the union."

N.Y. GOP Leader Says Rockefeller Will Enter Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse was reported Monday as saying Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will seek the GOP presidential nomination next year.

Newsweek magazine, in its Aug. 10 issue, said Morhouse plainly told a dozen Congressmen that Rockefeller will take the plunge against Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Morhouse is known to be a vigorous advocate of Rockefeller's candidacy. However, the governor, without barring the possibility he will seek the nomination, has said he is concentrating presently on state duties.

Rockefeller has told friends he will be a candidate only if public opinion polls show conclusively that Nixon cannot win against a Democratic nominee.

When he does go, he plans to spend "some days" traveling in the Soviet Union as well as talking with Khrushchev in Moscow.

The chief Western Allies acclaimed the news of the exchange of visits. Diplomats at Geneva, about to end another fruitless conference over Germany, saw the visits as encouraging to peace.

At the very least they saw some assurance that Khrushchev will suspend his threat to take action to oust the Western powers from West Berlin.

Never before has a top leader of the Soviet Union come to the United States. Eisenhower, as Gen. Eisenhower, was in Moscow in 1945 and got a hero's welcome.

What will happen when Khrushchev shows up poses a question of many parts, worrying members of Congress and the security officers among others.

Will what Khrushchev sees in America serve to quiet his belligerence?

Eisenhower has said he has long thought it would be a good thing if the whole U.S.S.R. Presidium could see what America is, and what Americans would have to fight for if need be.

Should Congress, if it is still in session, invite Khrushchev to speak to a joint session of the Senate and House?

What sort of a reception will Khrushchev get from the American people?

They know him from his pictures and by reputation as a bullet-headed combative character who goes around telling the West: "We will bury you," or "Your grandchildren will live under communism."

BYRD URGES AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate was urged Monday by Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W. Va.) to adopt an amendment to widen the national forest improvement program. It would provide funds for greater forest research, more forest roads and trails, improved land management, and new lands to be added to the national forest system.

Two Ocean City Eating Places Denied Permits

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Board of Health refused Monday to renew the licenses of two Ocean City, Md., restaurants. Two others received only temporary permits.

The board ruled that restaurants in the Atlantic and Rideau hotels failed to meet sanitation standards.

Temporary licenses were granted to Bob Ching's restaurant and the Mayflower Hotel Restaurant because of improvements reported in sanitation conditions.

A fifth resort eating place called before the board, Josie and Maria's, got a clean bill. The restaurant was cited for "tremendous improvement" in sanitary operations and had no trouble in keeping its license.

The five restaurants were represented by Marcus J. Williams, an attorney, who assured the board the establishments will make "every possible human effort" to meet standards of the health code.

An inspection by State Health Department officials last July 22 resulted in charges of improper cleaning of utensils and equipment, open display of food, poor refrigeration, poor kitchen lighting and unclean restrooms.

Man Held After Blood-Stained Spree

PRINCE FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — Authorities held Carroll H. Brown, 28, of Willows, Md., Monday and accused him of shooting one man, beating up another and stealing three cars — all in a few hours after his release from prison.

Police said his blood-stained spree ended when Brown walked into the Calvert County sheriff's office and meekly surrendered Sunday to a dispatcher, Mrs. Ida Gibson.

After his release from the Maryland House of Correction Saturday, sheriff's deputies traced Brown's steps in this order:

His first day, he beat up Thomas Harris of Willows and stole his car. Chased by police, he finally wrecked it and escaped into the woods.

Next day, he pointed a double barreled shotgun at James Claggett of Sunderland, Md. and drove off in his car, wrecking it. Then he called at the home of Stanley Holland, 30, in Willows, where he shot and critically wounded Holland.

After that, he forced Leroy Holland and five friends and a child to get out of a car at the point of the gun. He drove this car to Prince Frederick and gave up.

Bar Plans Vote On Court Plan

BALTIMORE (AP) — Members of the Maryland State Bar Assn. will vote this month on whether to change the state's appellate court system.

Joseph Bernstein, association president, said Monday a secret ballot listing three alternate proposals will be mailed to members Aug. 11. The ballots must be returned by Aug. 26.

Revision of the appellate system has been before the bar group for three years. Some members said the present five judges of the Court of Appeals are overburdened because of heavy caseloads.

One of the three proposed revisions on the ballot was drafted by a special bar committee headed by H. Vernon Eney.

The Eney report called for an addition of one judge to the Court of Appeals and creation of a new Special Court of Appeals to handle certain catagories of appellate cases.

The other two proposals call for addition of two members to the Court of Appeals or no change in the existing status.

Accused Robber Jailed For Hearing

BALTIMORE (AP) — Raymond Lee Mills, named as one of two robbers who took $18,250 from a Howard County bank in November, 1957, was jailed in default of bail Monday for a hearing Aug. 13.

Mills appeared before U.S. Commissioner Ernest Volkart, who set bail at $15,000.

He was implicated in the robbery by Glen Wallace O'Dell, under arrest in Cleveland, Ohio. Deputy U.S. Atty. John R. Hargrove told Volkhart that O'Dell had given the FBI a statement naming himself and Mills as participants in the hitherto unsolved robbery.

The government is expected to seek prompt grand jury action in the case and bring O'Dell to Baltimore.

Brewster, fair president, also announced that last year's record attendance of 281,524 is expected to be topped by 18,000.

The setting up of stands and exhibits should start within the next two weeks in the exhibition hall and surrounding buildings, he reported.

Mesopotamia is the name applied to the area between the Euphrates and the Tigris rivers. Iraq is the Arab name for this territory.

Tablet To Honor Maryland Doctor Who Aided Booth

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tablet in honor of a Maryland doctor sentenced to life imprisonment for aiding the assassin of President Lincoln would be erected under a measure approved by the House Public Lands subcommittee Monday.

The tablet would be placed at Garden Key, Fla. in honor of Dr. Samuel Alexander Mudd of Charles County, Md.

The resolution notes Dr. Mudd did not know of Lincoln's death when the physician gave medical aid and lodging to John Wilkes Booth the night of the assassination.

The measure further notes that while imprisoned at Garden Key, Mudd "rendered heroic and invaluable medical aid" to yellow fever victims in the prison. He was pardoned by President Andrew Johnson.

Bumper Apple Crop Is Seen In W. Virginia

Some States Show Decline

By JERRY GOULD
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia apparently will receive a helping hand this fall from other apple producing states in disposing of its anticipated bumper crop. But they didn't plan it that way.

Two of the other three states in the Appalachian area — Virginia and Maryland — will produce almost the same number of bushels as in 1958. Pennsylvania's crop will climb about 1,000,000 bushels.

However, New York State is expected to drop almost 3,500,000 bushels this fall and neighboring Ohio will be down some 3,000,000 according to last month's estimates by the Federal - State Crop Reporting Service.

Production Up

West Virginia, for the second successive year, will show a large increase. Last year the Eastern Panhandle counties of Berkeley, Jfferson, Hardy, Hampshire and Morgan produced 5,200,000 bushels. The estimate this year is 5,800,000 bushels.

The 1958 crop alone was almost 1,000,000 bushels above the 4,258,000 recent 10-year average for the Mountain State. With that production came marketing problems as prices dropped.

However, this year, Virginia's crop is expected to be about 300,000 below its 1958 production of 11,100,000 bushels. Maryland's will be about 1,400,000 bushels, an increase of about 130,000 over last year.

Early-season prospects pointed to a commercial apple crop of 119,122,000 bushels throughout the United States. This is 6 per cent under 1958.

Big Crop In N. Y.

In New York State alone, the crop was expected to drop from 22,000,000 bushels last year to 18,600,000 this fall. There also was an anticipated decline of 400,000 bushels in North Carolina.

The newly - organized Appalachian Apple Assn. feels that growers are in a much more favorable position this year than in 1958. The decline in production elsewhere is one of the chief reasons.

They also have a certain portion of their crops already committed to processors and feel that the fresh market will absorb the remainder much more readily and at better prices than last year.

The first of the early apples have moved to markets with the flow to increase weekly for the rest of the season. West Virginia's peach crop — estimated at 660,000 bushels — rapidly is reaching its peak.

Firemen Adopt Alert System At Frostburg

Forty Electronic Monitors Issued

FROSTBURG—Since Frostburg telephones were converted to the dial system, the city's volunteer firemen have faced a problem. In case of an alarm, firemen had to first check in at the station to find the location of the fire.

This past week saw this mode pass into oblivion as the firemen put into operation their new "tone alerting system."

Kenneth Close, radio officer of the company, stated that this system is the latest of its kind and will increase the efficiency of the department in answering alarms.

The "tone alerting system" consists of a small monitor about the size of a small home radio which is plugged in at home, work or wherever the fireman wants it.

In case of an alert, the radio officer turns on the tone generator at the station. This activates each monitor. The tone signal is then heard over each monitor in addition to a report of the location of the fire which enables the fireman to report directly where needed. After 90 seconds, the monitor is automatically reset to "silent standby."

Each tone activated receiver is quiet until the correct signal tone is transmitted. The tone operates a relay which closes the speaker circuit. The tone signal is then heard instantly without the delay required to answer a phone, tune a receiver or shut off a bell or buzzer.

The present radio transmitter used for communicating with trucks in service and with other fire companies of the areas is used to transmit the tone signal.

With the new equipment firemen are alerted within 10 seconds after the alarm is received at the station. It may also be used to alert firemen for meetings, by civil defense in case of emergencies, and to call the firemen out at times when there is no need to sound the siren. For the next few weeks Close said the time will be broadcast each day over the system in order to know if sets are functioning correctly.

The cost of the system is approximately $3,500 with 40 monitors being issued to the firemen.

W.Va. Cemeteries Subject To Tax

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Tax Department has ruled that West Virginia cemeteries are subject to the newly-enacted property transfer tax.

The measure passed by the 1959 Legislature imposed a tax of $1.10 for each $900 consideration or fraction thereof. This is twice the federal tax on transfers of real property.

Operators of several cemeteries had asked whether the purchase of a burial plot constituted the conveyance of real estate.

The department's decision was based on a 1921 ruling by the West Virginia Supreme Court which held that a person acquiring a cemetery lot had an interest in that land. Although this does not constitute ownership, it was interpreted as being within the meaning of the present law.

Elderly Couple Gets Aid From Kindly Neighbors

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — An elderly Parkersburg couple, who had just about given up the will to live, have a brighter outlook on life now, thanks to the generosity of a group of Parkersburg citizens.

"I am too tired to keep struggling; nobody cares about us anymore," is the way 72-year-old Albert Johnson summed up last week the situation of himself and his invalid 74-year-old wife.

But some Parkersburg residents come to aid the old couple. A $650 dollar mortgage on the couple's small home was paid in full Monday. The money came from $1,000 banked from donations of neighbors and others.

Johnson had nearly reached the end of his rope after a constant battle against poverty, hunger and illness throughout life.

The elderly couple receives $55.50 a month from social security, but out of this they pay for all food, medical supplies and home expenses.

The couple is childless and has no living relatives to assist them. Mrs. Johnson has been a partial invalid since 1941. And three years ago, Johnson had to quit work to devote full time to caring for her.

An article in the Parkersburg News last week brought the plight of the Johnson family to light.

Mrs. Johnson is now resting in a hospital bed provided by a Parkersburg donor. And their small cottage has a brand new coat of paint, as well as new drapes.

Food for the couple will be taken care of for the rest of their lives. Several women employes of the A. B. Chance Co. plan to contribute $5 each week for this purpose.

Johnson summed up his feelings when he said "It is the most wonderful thing that ever happened to anyone."

W.Va. Man Finds Buried Treasure

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI)—A project to get rid of a few groundhogs has led a Fairmont area man to a windfall of "buried treasure."

Charles B. Newcomb, decided to fill up a few groundhog holes to cut down on his sweet corn losses which the pests were eating.

While filling up the holes his shovel struck a buried chest which contained what he said is "more than $1,000."

Coins included a 1834 silver half-dollar, a three-cent piece dated 1869 and several giant-sized pennies, some dating back to 1852.

Newcomb thinks the box may have been buried by an old man who lived in the area about ten years ago.

He said he would report the find to the proper authorities, but feels it should be turned back to him. "There's no name on the box and I found it on my place."

Natural Gas Income Declines In Garrett Co.

Total For Year Is $68,124.90

OAKLAND — Natural gas production in the past three months ending June 30 took a substantial drop of some $9,000 over the last report.

The report for the period was received recently by the Garrett County Commissioners. The check for $19,341 was exactly $9,036.52 less than the one three months ago.

The number of cubic feet produced in the period totaled 1,066,218,000, more than 11,000,000 cubic feet per day. The marketable gas was valued at $276,300.01.

The gas company's check was the amount for the seven per cent tax on the marketable gas. The largest check received for any 90-day period was $28,573.82.

Breakdown Given

The breakdown of the latest tax receipts showed $7,736.40 as the purchaser's proportion of the tax, (2.8 per cent) and $11,604.60 as the producer's proportion of the tax (4.2 per cent).

Thirty-five wells were listed as producing gas at this time, one less than the previous report. Four tabulations were listed as "various" and meant that several wells were involved.

The "various" wells had a production of 957,257,000 cubic feet, a majority of the total produced.

Largest producer was the Herman and Hanlin well with 216,691,000, while next on the list was Black and Frazee with 166,821,000. Others were Bowser, 131,708,000; Mitchell Rush, 118,966,000; Barbara Miller, 67,698,000; Miller, 59,750,000; Whiteface, 53,024,000; Arnold and George, 46,445,000, and Knox, 44,481,000. The N. K. Welch well, first producer in the area, still was supplying over 17,000,000.

Total Now $68,124.90

The check was the third one during the new year. Last year's total was $83,888.56. The total for the new year is now $68,124.90. The first $50,000 in any one year goes toward liquidation of the school indebtedness. The next $25,000 goes toward expenses of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and any amount above $75,000 goes into a fund for new school building repairs or additional new construction. A percentage of the total received by the commissioners goes to incorporated towns if a producing well is located within the corporate limits.

Since the first check for the tax on the marketable gas was received by the commissioners in July 1951, the county's governing body has received $4[illegible],341.74.

Bumper Apple Crop Is Seen In W. Virginia

Some States Show Decline

By JERRY GOULD
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia apparently will receive a helping hand this fall from other apple producing states in disposing of its anticipated bumper crop. But they didn't plan it that way.

Two of the other three states in the Appalachian area — Virginia and Maryland — will produce almost the same number of bushels as in 1958. Pennsylvania's crop will climb about 1,000,000 bushels.

However, New York State is expected to drop almost 3,500,000 bushels this fall and neighboring Ohio will be down some 3,000,000 according to last month's estimates by the Federal - State Crop Reporting Service.

Production Up

West Virginia, for the second successive year, will show a large increase. Last year the Eastern Panhandle counties of Berkeley, Jfferson, Hardy, Hampshire and Morgan produced 5,200,000 bushels. The estimate this year is 5,800,000 bushels.

The 1958 crop alone was almost 1,000,000 bushels above the 4,258,000 recent 10-year average for the Mountain State. With that production came marketing problems as prices dropped.

However, this year, Virginia's crop is expected to be about 300,000 below its 1958 production of 11,100,000 bushels. Maryland's will be about 1,400,000 bushels, an increase of about 130,000 over last year.

Early-season prospects pointed to a commercial apple crop of 119,122,000 bushels throughout the United States. This is 6 per cent under 1958.

Big Crop In N. Y.

In New York State alone, the crop was expected to drop from 22,000,000 bushels last year to 18,600,000 this fall. There also was an anticipated decline of 400,000 bushels in North Carolina.

The newly - organized Appalachian Apple Assn. feels that growers are in a much more favorable position this year than in 1958. The decline in production elsewhere is one of the chief reasons.

They also have a certain portion of their crops already committed to processors and feel that the fresh market will absorb the remainder much more readily and at better prices than last year.

The first of the early apples have moved to markets with the flow to increase weekly for the rest of the season. West Virginia's peach crop — estimated at 660,000 bushels — rapidly is reaching its peak.

Firemen Adopt Alert System At Frostburg

Forty Electronic Monitors Issued

FROSTBURG—Since Frostburg telephones were converted to the dial system, the city's volunteer firemen have faced a problem. In case of an alarm, firemen had to first check in at the station to find the location of the fire.

This past week saw this mode pass into oblivion as the firemen put into operation their new "tone alerting system."

Kenneth Close, radio officer of the company, stated that this system is the latest of its kind and will increase the efficiency of the department in answering alarms.

The "tone alerting system" consists of a small monitor about the size of a small home radio which is plugged in at home, work or wherever the fireman wants it.

In case of an alert, the radio officer turns on the tone generator at the station. This activates each monitor. The tone signal is then heard over each monitor in addition to a report of the location of the fire which enables the fireman to report directly where needed. After 90 seconds, the monitor is automatically reset to "silent standby."

Each tone activated receiver is quiet until the correct signal tone is transmitted. The tone operates a relay which closes the speaker circuit. The tone signal is then heard instantly without the delay required to answer a phone, tune a receiver or shut off a bell or buzzer.

The present radio transmitter used for communicating with trucks in service and with other fire companies of the areas is used to transmit the tone signal.

With the new equipment firemen are alerted within 10 seconds after the alarm is received at the station. It may also be used to alert firemen for meetings, by civil defense in case of emergencies, and to call the firemen out at times when there is no need to sound the siren. For the next few weeks Close said the time will be broadcast each day over the system in order to know if sets are functioning correctly.

The cost of the system is approximately $3,500 with 40 monitors being issued to the firemen.

Guardsmen End Training

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (UPI)—The remainder of some 600 West Virginia National Guardsmen left nearby Camp Dawson Sunday, ending their annual two-week summer training.

One unit, the 130th Ordnance Company from Williamson broke camp Saturday, bivouacking at Pt. Pleasant Saturday night. The company was scheduled to arrive home Sunday.

The two-week session ended Saturday with graduation ceremonies for the first 12 cadets to graduate from the West Virginia Military Academy. The class had 35 candidates when it began training in July, 1958.

Col. Ocie C. Damewood, a retired U. S. Army officer, told the new officers they have taken on responsibilities that will follow them throughout their lives. The new officers will receive the gold bars of a second lieutenant in Gov. Cecil H. Underwood's office in Charleston at a later date.

W.Va. Cemeteries Subject To Tax

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Tax Department has ruled that West Virginia cemeteries are subject to the newly-enacted property transfer tax.

The measure passed by the 1959 Legislature imposed a tax of $1.10 for each $900 consideration or fraction thereof. This is twice the federal tax on transfers of real property.

Operators of several cemeteries had asked whether the purchase of a burial plot constituted the conveyance of real estate.

The department's decision was based on a 1921 ruling by the West Virginia Supreme Court which held that a person acquiring a cemetery lot had an interest in that land. Although this does not constitute ownership, it was interpreted as being within the meaning of the present law.

Elderly Couple Gets Aid From Kindly Neighbors

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — An elderly Parkersburg couple, who had just about given up the will to live, have a brighter outlook on life now, thanks to the generosity of a group of Parkersburg citizens.

"I am too tired to keep struggling; nobody cares about us anymore," is the way 72-year-old Albert Johnson summed up last week the situation of himself and his invalid 74-year-old wife.

But some Parkersburg residents come to aid the old couple. A $650 dollar mortgage on the couple's small home was paid in full Monday. The money came from $1,000 banked from donations of neighbors and others.

Johnson had nearly reached the end of his rope after a constant battle against poverty, hunger and illness throughout life.

The elderly couple receives $55.50 a month from social security, but out of this they pay for all food, medical supplies and home expenses.

The couple is childless and has no living relatives to assist them. Mrs. Johnson has been a partial invalid since 1941. And three years ago, Johnson had to quit work to devote full time to caring for her.

An article in the Parkersburg News last week brought the plight of the Johnson family to light.

Mrs. Johnson is now resting in a hospital bed provided by a Parkersburg donor. And their small cottage has a brand new coat of paint, as well as new drapes.

Food for the couple will be taken care of for the rest of their lives. Several women employes of the A. B. Chance Co. plan to contribute $5 each week for this purpose.

Johnson summed up his feelings when he said "It is the most wonderful thing that ever happened to anyone."

W.Va. Man Finds Buried Treasure

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI)—A project to get rid of a few groundhogs has led a Fairmont area man to a windfall of "buried treasure."

Charles B. Newcomb, decided to fill up a few groundhog holes to cut down on his sweet corn losses which the pests were eating.

While filling up the holes his shovel struck a buried chest which contained what he said is "more than $1,000."

Coins included a 1834 silver half-dollar, a three-cent piece dated 1869 and several giant-sized pennies, some dating back to 1852.

Newcomb thinks the box may have been buried by an old man who lived in the area about ten years ago.

He said he would report the find to the proper authorities, but feels it should be turned back to him. "There's no name on the box and I found it on my place."

Natural Gas Income Declines In Garrett Co.

Total For Year Is $68,124.90

OAKLAND — Natural gas production in the past three months ending June 30 took a substantial drop of some $9,000 over the last report.

The report for the period was received recently by the Garrett County Commissioners. The check for $19,341 was exactly $9,036.52 less than the one three months ago.

The number of cubic feet produced in the period totaled 1,066,218,000, more than 11,000,000 cubic feet per day. The marketable gas was valued at $276,300.01.

The gas company's check was the amount for the seven per cent tax on the marketable gas. The largest check received for any 90-day period was $28,573.82.

Breakdown Given

The breakdown of the latest tax receipts showed $7,736.40 as the purchaser's proportion of the tax, (2.8 per cent) and $11,604.60 as the producer's proportion of the tax (4.2 per cent).

Thirty-five wells were listed as producing gas at this time, one less than the previous report. Four tabulations were listed as "various" and meant that several wells were involved.

The "various" wells had a production of 957,257,000 cubic feet, a majority of the total produced.

Largest producer was the Herman and Hanlin well with 216,691,000, while next on the list was Black and Frazee with 166,821,000. Others were Bowser, 131,708,000; Mitchell Rush, 118,966,000; Barbara Miller, 67,638,000; Miller, 59,750,000; Whiteface, 53,024,000; Arnold and George, 46,445,000, and Knox, 44,481,000. The N. K. Welch well, first producer in the area, still was supplying over 17,000,000.

Total Now $68,124.90

The check was the third one during the new year. Last year's total was $83,888.56. The total for the new year is now $68,124.90. The first $50,000 in any one year goes toward liquidation of the school indebtedness. The next $25,000 goes toward expenses of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and any amount above $75,000 goes into a fund for new school building repairs or additional new construction. A percentage of the total received by the commissioners goes to incorporated towns if a producing well is located within the corporate limits.

Since the first check for the tax on the marketable gas was received by the commissioners in July 1951, the county's governing body has received $4[illegible],341.74.

Residents Complain About Open Sewer

A raw sewage condition in an alley in back of Wempe Drive again was brought to the attention of the Mayor and Council yesterday with a delegation appearing to ask what the city intended to do in the matter.

Residents of the street also submitted a petition asking for the removal of a traffic light which had been placed recently at the intersection of Oldtown Road and Wempe Drive.

Gordon Griffin, one of the spokesmen for the delegation, told council residents of the street had been promised relief for the past 14 years, with nothing having been done in that time.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden said it was his impression that the matter was up to the residents of the street, explaining that papers of easement had been presented to several persons for residents of the street to sign. Several of the men and women questioned this and said such papers had not been passed around the neighborhood.

The delegation apparently was confused with the recent $300,000 bond issue which was voted recently by the Mayor and Council. Griffin and Eugene H. Martin, also of Wempe Drive, said they had been under the impression that a storm sewer for the area would be included in any bond issue asked by Council.

Commissioner G. Ray Light explained that the Wempe Drive project was undoubtedly included in a $500,000 bond issue for streets and sewers which had been asked by Street Commissioner John J. Long. However, he pointed out, the bond request had been turned down by Council.

The $300,000 bond issue, both Commissioner Light and Carscaden stressed, is earmarked for the city's share of the cost for the Thruway and cannot be spent for other purposes. Mrs. Lucile R. Roeder also told the group that she felt no promises had been made regarding immediate relief from the situation.

She added that the project would be given top consideration during the upcoming budget talks and said she and the other members of Council had fought to "hold the line" against costly projects until the city could see its way clear financially.

Griffin questioned this by remarking that according to a report by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson the city's financial condition was excellent.

The delegation was informed that they could secure additional easement papers and would have to obtain the necessary signatures before the city could take any additional steps.

City Council Gets Sewage Plant Report

Joseph F. Divico, acting superintendent of the city's sewage treatment plant, reported that the daily average sewage flow during July totaled 5,076,500 gallons.

Gas generated and used for heating the plant last month averaged 12,047 cubic feet daily, Divico reported at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Illness resulting from sunburn costs United States firms some 200 thousand working days annually.

Council Gets Complaints On Local Streets

A number of complaints on street conditions was brought to the attention of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

John B. MacFarland Jr., Dirks Street, asked concerning what was to be done to the street on which he resides. MacFarland described it as badly rutted and so dusty that it creates a health and cleaning problem to residents.

He also inquired why the city had halted light-surface treatment of streets in the area, pointing out that Dirks Street, Rizer Avenue and Ford Avenue were badly in need of such work.

Commissioner John J. Long said there were about 17 streets in the Johnson Height area which had been scheduled to recive the light surfacing, but that the work had been halted when the Mayor and Council adopted a new policy for such work.

The commissioner said the three streets would be oiled to help keep dust down. He also asked for MacFarland's opinion on a recommendation by Street Superintendent Andrew Heller that Dirks Street be made one-way.

MacFarland pointed out that if the recommendation was put through he would have to travel nearly three extra miles to go home from work. He added that he would not be against the one-way plan if one of two streets, now closed, would be opened to vehicular traffic again.

MacFarland also asked that traffic and street conditions be given top consideratiton for priority in determining street improvements.

Commissioner Long said his opinions would be referred to the city engineer and street superintendent for consideration.

City Is Asked To Condemn Property

The Mayor and Council was asked to condemn a North Centre Street property at yesterday's session of the Mayor and Council, the complainant explaining that he felt the structure was unsafe, unsanitary and a fire hazard.

Lee Marple, North Centre Street businessman, made the complaint, informing council that property adjoining his was a health hazard because of outside toilets. He also stated that sewer rats, attracted by the outhouses, were becoming a problem in the neighborhood.

The property, Marple said, is about 100 years old and orignally was constructed as a barn. It was later converted to a residence and is occupied by four families.

Council informed Marple that the matter would be referred to the Health Department for study and recommendation.

The carp and the dolphin can outswim the fastest vessel.

Fort Hill Enrolment Shows Increase

The 1,950 students expected to enroll at Fort Hill High School when classes begin on Wednesday, September 9, will find a freshly scrubbed and spruced up school.

Victor D. Heisey, principal, pointed out yesterday that the enrollment expected in September will be from 75 to 100 more than last September.

The increase is in junior high school where an additional section was added for seventh graders. Last year there were seven classrooms of seventh graders and this year there will be eight.

There will be a decrease in the high school grades and it will be a few years before another graduating class over 300 seniors will be seen.

In 1958 there were 304 graduates and this past June there were 265.

Six teachers have left the school during the summer. William D. Hahn, football coach and physical education instructor, and Wayne Boor, basketball coach, have accepted positions at Wheaton High School in Montgomery County.

Mrs. Lenore Kylus Resser has transferred from Fort Hill to Allegany High School where she formerly taught girls physical education.

Alfred Benna, mathematics instructor, will teach in Montgomery County this fall and Curtis Gilpin will teach at Samsees, Turkey, on a one-year Fulbright grant.

Miss Pauline House, who is being married in September, will move to Cape May, N. J., and Mrs. Irene Brinker Steele has moved to St. Louis.

Assigned to Fort Hill this year have been Miss Joan Lee Buskirk, who replaces Mrs. Resser; Mrs. Lorene Crist Laub, who will teach plane geometry, and Marvin T. Llewellyn, who will be a new seventh grade teacher.

Workers have been busy sprucing up and repairing the school building this summer.

The Joseph Graciano Company of Pittsburgh, has caulked all the masonry and concrete and the window sash and trim and exterior doors are being painted.

The big outside curtain on the stage is being cleaned and all floors have been scrubbed and waxed.

The brick on the interior walls has been scrubbed by hand as the custodial forces give the big building a thorough housecleaning.

It is anticipated that roof repairs will be made before school starts.

Men's Group Names Taylor

The newly organized Men of St. Patrick's will meet Friday at 8 p. m. in the social center of St. Patrick's Catholic Church to outline details of the fall program.

Named to office at the first meeting attended by 50 men of the parish were: Casper R. Taylor Jr., president; A. J. Chorpenning, vice president; J. A. Blake, secretary-treasurer, and Patrick A. Tierney, recording secretary.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Right Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor, who spoke briefly on the purpose of the organization. Msgr. Kilkenny appealed for the support of the men, explaining that the financial burden of the parish has become increasingly heavy and that improvements in the planning stage will place a heavy debt on the church.

At the suggestion of the pastor, the men voted to sponsor a Prayer Crusade for a month beginning Saturday, September 5. All members of the parish will be asked to participate in the crusade, Msgr. Kilkenny said, with the intention being the success of the first project.

Parking Receipts Down

Harry M. Whisner reported receipts of $723.10 from parking meters for the period ending July 26. The total is a decrease of $34.35 from the previous week's report.

Council Gets Complaints On Local Streets

A number of complaints on street conditions was brought to the attention of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

John B. MacFarland Jr., Dirks Street, asked concerning what was to be done to the street on which he resides. MacFarland described it as badly rutted and so dusty that it creates a health and cleaning problem to residents.

He also inquired why the city had halted light-surface treatment of streets in the area, pointing out that Dirks Street, Rizer Avenue and Ford Avenue were badly in need of such work.

Commissioner John J. Long said there were about 17 streets in the Johnson Height area which had been scheduled to recive the light surfacing, but that the work had been halted when the Mayor and Council adopted a new policy for such work.

The commissioner said the three streets would be oiled to help keep dust down. He also asked for MacFarland's opinion on a recommendation by Street Superintendent Andrew Heller that Dirks Street be made one-way.

MacFarland pointed out that if the recommendation was put through he would have to travel nearly three extra miles to go home from work. He added that he would not be against the one-way plan if one of two streets, now closed, would be opened to vehicular traffic again.

MacFarland also asked that traffic and street conditions be given top consideratiton for priority in determining street improvements.

Commissioner Long said his opinions would be referred to the city engineer and street superintendent for consideration.

City Is Asked To Condemn Property

The Mayor and Council was asked to condemn a North Centre Street property at yesterday's session of the Mayor and Council, the complainant explaining that he felt the structure was unsafe, unsanitary and a fire hazard.

Lee Marple, North Centre Street businessman, made the complaint, informing council that property adjoining his was a health hazard because of outside toilets. He also stated that sewer rats, attracted by the outhouses, were becoming a problem in the neighborhood.

The property, Marple said, is about 100 years old and orignally was constructed as a barn. It was later converted to a residence and is occupied by four families.

Council informed Marple that the matter would be referred to the Health Department for study and recommendation.

Fort Hill Enrolment Shows Increase

The 1,950 students expected to enroll at Fort Hill High School when classes begin on Wednesday, September 9, will find a freshly scrubbed and spruced up school.

Victor D. Heisey, principal, pointed out yesterday that the enrollment expected in September will be from 75 to 100 more than last September.

The increase is in junior high school where an additional section was added for seventh graders. Last year there were seven classrooms of seventh graders and this year there will be eight.

There will be a decrease in the high school grades and it will be a few years before another graduating class over 300 seniors will be seen.

In 1958 there were 304 graduates and this past June there were 265.

Six teachers have left the school during the summer. William D. Hahn, football coach and physical education instructor, and Wayne Boor, basketball coach, have accepted positions at Wheaton High School in Montgomery County.

Mrs. Lenore Kylus Resser has transferred from Fort Hill to Allegany High School where she formerly taught girls physical education.

Alfred Benna, mathematics instructor, will teach in Montgomery County this fall and Curtis Gilpin will teach at Samsees, Turkey, on a one-year Fulbright grant.

Miss Pauline House, who is being married in September, will move to Cape May, N. J., and Mrs. Irene Brinker Steele has moved to St. Louis.

Assigned to Fort Hill this year have been Miss Joan Lee Buskirk, who replaces Mrs. Resser; Mrs. Lorene Crist Laub, who will teach plane geometry, and Marvin T. Llewellyn, who will be a new seventh grade teacher.

Workers have been busy sprucing up and repairing the school building this summer.

The Joseph Graciano Company of Pittsburgh, has caulked all the masonry and concrete and the window sash and trim and exterior doors are being painted.

The big outside curtain on the stage is being cleaned and all floors have been scrubbed and waxed.

The brick on the interior walls has been scrubbed by hand as the custodial forces give the big building a thorough housecleaning.

It is anticipated that roof repairs will be made before school starts.

Men's Group Names Taylor

The newly organized Men of St. Patrick's will meet Friday at 8 p. m. in the social center of St. Patrick's Catholic Church to outline details of the fall program.

Named to office at the first meeting attended by 50 men of the parish were: Casper R. Taylor Jr., president; A. J. Chorpenning, vice president; J. A. Blake, secretary-treasurer, and Patrick A. Tierney, recording secretary.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Right Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor, who spoke briefly on the purpose of the organization. Msgr. Kilkenny appealed for the support of the men, explaining that the financial burden of the parish has become increasingly heavy and that improvements in the planning stage will place a heavy debt on the church.

At the suggestion of the pastor, the men voted to sponsor a Prayer Crusade for a month beginning Saturday, September 5. All members of the parish will be asked to participate in the crusade, Msgr. Kilkenny said, with the intention being the success of the first project.

Parking Receipts Down

Harry M. Whisner reported receipts of $723.10 from parking meters for the period ending July 26. The total is a decrease of $34.35 from the previous week's report.

Ivan Gets A Look At U.S. Products

No nation in the world has made a more careful study of mass reaction to merchandise than the United States. The sub-conscious has been probed and the subtle art of the hidden persuader developed to the ultimate degree of sophistication.

In an economy of plenty there seems to be little left to learn about the business of creating an appetite and then producing to satisfy it.

The Russian people have never been exposed to this kind of persuader and so their reactions to the American exhibition in Moscow are enlightening. They are getting a glimpse of life in a country where producing enough has long ceased to be a problem, where men tax their brains day and night to give variety to plenty.

It must seem to these masses of Russians, accustomed to regarding the products they use and wear from a strictly utilitarian viewpoint, that at least some American tastes have reached a stage of absurdity and wastefulness.

To a people brought up to regard a chair as a piece of furniture to sit upon, a form-fitting foam rubber lounging chair must seem like unnecessary luxury, while the gadgets that have become indispensable in the American kitchen might be condemned as frivolities.

The Russian people are no different from people anywhere else in the world when it comes to liking the products of material civilization. They certainly must be looking forward to the day when frozen foods will be available, and fresh meat that isn't over-ripe because of lack of refrigeration.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Nixon's Prospects

In the United States, in the year 1959, whatever a public figure does reflects itself in domestic politics. For nearly every public man, in his heart, is a candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

Senator Hubert Humphrey took a trip to Soviet Russia, had a long-winded conversation with Nikita Khrushchev, wrote a magazine article on the subject and became a candidate for President. It is doubtful that the prolonged interview advanced his chances.

Governor Averell Harriman landed in Soviet Russia as a reporter, working for the North American Newspaper Alliance which takes on waifs and strays to do pieces here and there. Harriman's reports on Soviet Russia made interesting reading and it is said that he made other confidential reports to our government. Be that as it may, it rescued him from the oblivion which is the normal lot of defeated Governors and makes him an aspirant for the office of Secretary of State should a Democratic President be elected in 1960.

Vice President Nixon has the advantage of his post when he travels abroad. It is true that President Eisenhower sent his brother, Milton, on this trip to Russia to help Nixon who did not need his help. However, Milton Eisenhower is not likely ever to be a candidate for the Presidency, although the President once said something about Milton having the brains of the family which may be true. By the looks of it, Milton Eisenhower gained no political stature out of this trip, Nixon overshadowing him completely.

In Republican politics, Vice President Nixon has only one contender to deal with, that is, Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York. The propaganda device used against Richard Nixon is the same old gambit used against Robert A. Taft, namely, that Nixon cannot be elected. This is being repeated over and over again every day, the same as it was against Taft. It is the Hitlerian propaganda device of the big lie, as nobody can even guess now who can be elected in November, 1960. Even the same words are used which I will paraphrase:

"Nixon is a fine man. He has made an excellent Vice President. He ought to be nominated for President. But he won't be. He can't win."

The last man who told me that was a pompous but important lawyer, a traditional and one might say, an hereditary Republican. I asked a simple question:

"How do you know?"

The creature sputtered and fumed and finally ended with the gossip's anthem:

"Everybody says so."

This propaganda killed off Taft. I saw men vote against Taft at the Chicago Convention in 1952 with tears in their eyes, because Taft had been a colleague and friend. I recall talking to a man who in those days cut quite a figure but who now is somewhere counting his toes. He was supposed to be for Taft and was so counted by both sides, but when we had our little conversation, he was twisting his handkerchief like a girl who tries to explain to mamma why she was out after 10 o'clock for the first time.

That is the job being done on Nixon, but it encounters a different situation, namely, that Nixon finds ways of displaying stature. It is difficult for a Vice President. He is a captive of his office. There are many limitations on his conduct, including the necessity of avoiding embarrassment for the President. He cannot organize to campaign because it would be difficult for him to raise a campaign fund while in office. He is like a fighter who goes into the ring with one arm tied behind him. Perhaps that is one reason why so few Vice Presidents have been elected to the Presidency.

On the other hand, his only adversary, Nelson Rockefeller, also is handicapped because he is bogged down in the parochial politics of New York State and New York City and both are very bad indeed. If Rockefeller had time, he and his associates might do a decent job cleaning up the very smelly administrative situation in New York, but by 1960, too little can be accomplished to be notable, even if the greatest talent were available. More likely, the next year will produce a plethora of scandals but the cleansing process is far off.

Therefore Rockefeller is limited to the classical and expensive task of a public relations — Madison Avenue — campaign against Nixon plus such deals as are characteristic of Republican politics. In the past, such deals have produced victories, as, for instance, the nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Nixon Speech Of "Tremendous Significance"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — A phenomenon unparalleled in the history of diplomacy has just occurred. It is of transcendent importance in the struggle for world peace—A "Sputnik," it might be called, in the progress of international relations.

For, in the midst of the "cold war," a leader of one nation has spoken in criticism of a hostile government directly to the people of that country. It was an address as tactful and yet as argumentative as a diplomatic note.

The speech made by Vice President Nixon to the people of the Soviet Union contained little that had not been said before in the formal and informal exchanges of view between the foreign ministers of the two sides at Geneva and through their ambassadors for several years past. But it was of tremendous significance because these words were transmitted directly over the television and radio to the Soviet people inside their own borders and over their own governmental facilities. It was something that could not have been arranged without the sanction of the Soviet government itself, which has hitherto maintained a strict censorship of what might be said to the Soviet people either through the press or over the air.

The Vice President didn't mince words. He made pointed criticisms. But they were couched in earnest, polite, dignified and reasoned phrases. He didn't "pull his punches" but he handled himself without giving offense. Ever since his college days when he was a prize debater, Richard Nixon has known how to argue persuasively in competition with adversaries before big audiences.

The Vice President himself worked six hours on his speech. He chose the words carefully and covered every vital issue. It was a masterpiece of diplomacy, yet it was an effective appeal over the head of a government to the people—something that President Woodrow Wilson first enunciated as a principle in his war address of 1917 when he said that "we have no quarrel with the German people" but only with their autocratic government.

It is most unfortunate that inside the United States so much press speculation by supporters and opponents of Mr. Nixon has been devoted to the question of whether the trip enhances his political prestige for the Presidential contest in 1960. This detracts from the true importance of the Nixon visit to Russia and Poland.

For today it is the impact of the Nixon address on the course of the "cold war" that is alone important. His mission was authorized by President Eisenhower and is therefore associated with the conduct of our foreign relations.

Did the Nixon trip help toward world peace? Did it advance the cause of the West in its indefatigable endeavor to find a common ground for "getting along" with the dictatorship in the Kremlin?

These questions are difficult to answer because Khrushchev is a ruthless man who has been guilty of ordering mass murders in Eastern Europe, where he holds many countries as his captives. He is fanatically wedded to the idea of world conquest by threats of military action, by spreading Communistic ideas and then by infiltrating other governments and taking possession of them.

Should Khrushchev be invited to come to America, and when? This is a subject for diplomacy's experts to work out. The whole thing started with belief on Khrushchev's part that a "Summit" conference would enhance his prestige with his own people. The West thought it better to have a foreign ministers' conference first to ascertain if the Berlin crisis could be solved by such a meeting. President Eisenhower said he would go to a "Summit" meeting only if the results at Geneva "justified it."

Now Geneva is acknowledged to be a failure. Cleverly no doubt Khrushchev figured that, by opening up doors for Vice President Nixon and giving him a chance to visit Russia and Poland, he could get a two-man "Summit" conference anyway. For President Eisenhower has insisted there must be some "give" on the part of Khrushchev before a general "Summit" conference is held so that the West would not seem to be negotiating under the duress of the recent ultimatum to us to get out of Berlin. The demand and accompanying threat have never been withdrawn.

The Soviet Premier says he would like to come to the United States when "the time is ripe." The President told the press last week that such a trip might come about eventually when the American people have been conditioned to it.

How can this happen? Overnight the Soviet leader could withdraw his ultimatum. Maybe that's why he issued it—eventually to get an invitation to come to the United States. If he comes, he can have television and radio audiences to listen to him but he will also have persons in all parties answering him and interrogating him, too. When this appeared to be the way things were shaping up in Scandinava, Nikita Khrushchev backed away though he had been officially invited. The time, he felt, was not ripe. Maybe Khrushchev wants only an invitation to visit the United States, and then may decide that in this case also "the time isn't ripe." Lots of Americans would agree with him.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

Developments in government over the last few years are convincing increasing numbers of people that a politically divided administration can work out for the general good.

For many years political experts believed that an administration controlled by one party and congress by another resulted in a stalemate situation which would bring inaction to governmental affairs.

In 1952 and 1956 millions of people obviously voted for a Republican President and Democratic senators and representatives. While President Eisenhower has won his two White House terms with impressive majorities, he has had a Republican controlled Congress for only the first two years of his term in office.

Yet, in looking back over the record, the government has successfully met a series of foreign crises and seen a sharp recession vanish and be replaced by unprecedented prosperity.

There has been a lot of political name-calling from both sides in the process, but the end result has been gratifying. It is doubtful that more could have been accomplished if one party or the other had control of the legislative as well as the administrative branch of government.

Perhaps the worst thing that can be said for divided control is that it has tended to obscure political responsibility. In the complex maneuverings that accompany formulation of legislation and national policy, it is all too easy for one political party to blame the other for failures and half measures.

But, should the Republicans succeed in winning the White House in 1960, prospects are for a continuation of divided government and divided responsibility, for the Democrats look like almost a sure bet to retain their control of the Senate and House.

Quick Action Needed In Case Of Snakebite

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

An antivenin is available that protects against all poisonous snakes in the United States, except the coral snake. The product comes in a kit containing dried serum, an ampoule of sterile water, and a disposable syringe. The dry serum remains stable for at least five years without refrigeration.

In the past, snake bite victims failed to receiv anti-serum because it was not known what type of snake had been encountered. In many instances, the local physician assumed that the snake was of a species prevalent in the area and acted accordingly. Some persons survived without the use of antivenin, and it was difficult to know whether the physician guessed right or wrong.

Poisonous serpents are found in 48 of our states, the only exception being Maine and Alaska. More than 3,000 bites are recorded annually but fewer than 20 victims die.

Snake bite always is a medical emergency and every victim ought to be hospitalized if possible. Treatment is more effective when started early. The first rule is to remain calm so the circulation slows, which delays the spread of the poison to the rest of the body. Ice packs also slow up absorption.

A tightly tied tourniquent is applied immediately to trap the poison in the region of the bitten extremity. Next make multiple incisions through the fang marks and employ suction with the mouth, a suction bulb, or whatever is available; the venom is harmless should it be swallowed.

Antivenin then is given and the blood type is determined quickly, because later the toxins from the venom cause such changes in the blood that typing is impossible. This is important because a blood transfusion may be needed. The victim is out of danger if he survives the first 48 hours.

Snake bite is more serious in the very young and very old. A bite on an extremity is less dangerous than one near a vital organ. The degree of penetration varies with the clothing worn and the condition of the snake's fangs. Large snakes are more dangerous because they insert a bigger dose of venom.

VENOUS BLOOD

V. M. writes: If blood is to be tested can it be taken from a vein anywhere in the body or just the arm?

REPLY

Anywhere along an arm or a leg where a large vein is close to the surface. An arm, usually is selected because the veins are prominent and blood can be removed with minimal distress. An ear lobe or fingertip is used when only a drop of blood is needed.

VIRAL INFECTION

Mrs. J. writes: My daughter's illness has been diagnosed as Coxsackie infection. Will you please write something about this disease?

REPLY

We did, in 1951, when the disease was first demonstrated. Since then we have referred to it from time to time. This viral infection of children is characterized by sudden onset, fever, sore throat, and cold sores in the mouth. Another type affects the chest mainly and produces pain similar to that of pleurisy.

ALLERGY AND ECZEMA

P. T. writes: Is dry eczema on the face due to allergy?

REPLY

Yes, or to a somewhat related condition — contact dermatitis. The word eczema is a catch-all for various types of skin lesions.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Jack Fuller believes he's discovered a character whose bon mots are in a class with Benchley's and Dorothy Parker's. His name is William Roos.

At a cocktail party, Cartoonist Charles Addams could find nothing with which to stir a highball, and resorted to using his finger. "You shouldn't do that," reproved Roos. "You don't know who's been drinking out of that glass!"

Another time, Roos' wife looked out of the window one miserable winter morning and reported, "It's gray, dismal, and forty." "Well, grumbled Roos as he turned over to go back to sleep, "Who isn't?"

Munitions Lobby Entertains Under Noses Of Congressional Probers

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — At the Sheraton Park Hotel, right under the nose of Congressman Hebert's investigating committee, the munitions lobby has set up some of the most lavish army entertainment seen in Washington for some time.

Fifty companies doing business with the Pentagon have reserved 50 "hospitality suites" to entertain procurement and contract officers during the Army Association convention this week. This is an expense which the average small business firm can't afford, and is one reason why more and more business goes to the big firms, less to small firms.

Sen. John Sparkmar of Alabama revealed last week that 20 big corporations get one-half of all defense contracts. Official Pentagon figures also show that 100 firms get 74 per cent of the contracts. This is partly because of the retired admirals and generals employed by the big companies, partly because competitive bidding is largely out the window, partly because the big companies can afford to keep regular lobbyists in Washington and entertain lavishly.

Here is how they are entertaining for the army this week:

General Electric, which is the nation's No. 3 defense contractor, has reserved the Madison Room at the Sheraton Park from Sunday morning until Wednesday night for free liquor and entertainment. It is also throwing a big cocktail party in the Burgundy Room Wednesday. GE got $954,000,000 in defense contracts last year and employs 35 retired officers.

General Motors, which did $282,000,000 business with the Pentagon last year took the Burgundy Room for a reception and dinner yesterday. (Aug. 3.)

Hughes Aircraft reserved the Burgundy Room for a cocktail party Tuesday. It got over half a billion dollars in defense orders last year ($565,700,000) and employs seven retired officers.

Sperry Gyroscope and United Aircraft are throwing rival cocktail parties Wednesday afternoon. United aircraft got $400,500,000 in defense orders last year and employs fifteen retired officers.

Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone, a subsidiary of the giant American Tel and Tel with $792,000,000 of defense orders, is throwing a big dinner and reception.

No congressional committee will be able to put the finger on any actual contracts negotiated during these "At Homes to Pentagon Officers," but they are one reason why big contracts to big corporations get bigger and bigger.

Behind The Labor Battle

One of the great legislative dramas of the year is squaring off for a showdown in the House of Representatives this week. It's the battle over a clean-labor bill.

So far the jockeying has been in the wings and cloakrooms of Congress. But soon the fighting will begin out in the open and in earnest. And although the speeches will deal with Jimmy Hoffa and union treasuries, secondary boycotts and hot Cargoes, actually two less-publicized factors will be in congressmen's minds when they step up to vote.

One is a very human factor — the battle between two men both in the twilight of their careers—Sam Rayburn of Texas and Howard Smith of Virginia.

The other is an economic factor, the plan of some industrialists to suck more and more business out of the north into a non-union south.

The struggle between the two elder statesmen, Rayburn and Smith, is the most human part of the labor battle. Speaker Rayburn, now 77 years old, with 46 years service in Congress, has a labor record of which he is proud. He has always been the friend of the working man.

Surrounded by some of the most reactionary political forces in the Southwest, Mr. Sam has remained a liberal. Sometimes he has been influenced by old friendships. But when the chips were down, he has always fought to produce.

Republicrat From Virginia

"Judge" Smith, the swallow-tailed gentleman from Virginia, is listed as a Democrat, but usually votes Republican. He is the spokesman for the big utilities, the National Association of Manufacturers, and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. He is the close friend of GOP leader Charlie Halleck; the two consult on almost every important bill before Congress.

Last January, a strong group of Democrats, led by Chet Holifield of California, wanted to clip Smith's power to throttle bills in the Rules Committee, of which he is chairman. But Sam Rayburn saved Smith. That rescue has now boomeranged. Smith has been behind almost every legislative move to undercut Sam Rayburn's leadership.

Smith today is the real leader behind the tough anti-labor bill introduced by Landrum of Georgia, Democrat, and Griffin of Michigan, Republican, which the Smith-Halleck coalition will try to substitute for the more moderate house labor bill.

If the tough anti-labor bill passes, many northern congressmen, both Republicans and Democrats, figure the North will become an industrial vacuum, that industry will be sucked into the nonlabor South. This appeals to some southern congressmen. But others, including Sam Rayburn, know that it would lead to bitter sectionalism in Congress and attempts to pass discriminatory economic legislation against the South. They also know that in the long run, northern congressmen have the votes.

Those are the backstage factors behind the labor bill as the House of Representatives squares off for a bitter vote.

Interesting Switch

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—With stepped up investment by American companies in Europe—particularly in the Common Market area—the purchase by a leading West German industrial concern of a substantial stock position in a U.S. manufacturing enterprise is an interetsing switch.

The Daimler Benz Co. is one of group buying into the Studebaker-Packard Corp. The Daimler investment is around $9 million—half in cash and half in notes. It covers about 22,500 shares.

The investment is in the South Bend auto maker's convertible preferred shares which, if turned into common stock, will make Daimler one of the largest Studebaker shareowners.

The biggest investment position — between 40,000 and 45,000 shares — is held by Lehman Bros., the international banking firm. Metropolitan Life Insurance is second with around 30,000 shares.

The preferred shares were held by three insurance companies and 20 commerical banks. They acquired the shares in a financial reorganization of Studebaker last year. They exchanged $54,500,000 Studebaker debt for $16,500,000 in new five per cent notes due in 1973 and $16,500,000 or 165,000 shares of $100 par convertible preferred. The preferred is convertible into 5½ million Studebaker common shares, or at $3 a share.

Metropolitan Life did not sell its preferred holdings but the other two insurance companies — Prudential and Mutual Benefit Life—and most of the banks did. In doing so, they more than recovered their loss in the auto company's financial reorganization.

Studebaker, with its new small car — the Lark — has made a big comeback. The shares which were down to around $10 are now around $12.50. They have been as high as $15.50 this year.

A registration statement covering the preferred shares is now waiting SEC clearance.

The preferred shares have been taken by the various parties — almost 30 who are not a united group — on an investment basis. The filing by the company of a registration statement, however, will permit later sale of the securities.

The distribution of the shares was largely arranged by the Stock Exchange firm of Bear, Stearns & Co. most of these were placed with investors as long ago as six months.

Daimler Benz and Studebaker have had a close association for the last two years, including Studebaker distribution in the U. S. of Mercedes cars and trucks. The Daimler purchase of 22,500 Studebaker preferred can become 750,000 common, or just under six per cent of Studebaker common outstanding after all the preferred is converted and sale of stock to officers and employes.

Studebaker now has around 6,440,000 common outstanding, and conversion of the preferred will add 5½ million to the total. Another million shares is reserved for offering to certain officers and key employes.

In addition to the West German holdings, an English group also is understood to have taken a position in the preferred.

American companies seeing themselves priced out of the European market have been establishing branches and investing in existing companies. Chrysler recently bought into Simca of France. Ford and General Motors have large investments in companies on the continent and Britain.

Now a West German company is buying into an American automobile company. This recognizes that the biggest market for cars is the U. S. Also, it is further evidence — if any is needed — of West Germany's comback. The West German economy is now the strongest on the continent.

Ivan Gets A Look At U. S. Products

No nation in the world has made a more careful study of mass reaction to merchandise than the United States. The sub-conscious has been probed and the subtle art of the hidden persuader developed to the ultimate degree of sophistication.

In an economy of plenty there seems to be little left to learn about the business of creating an appetite and then producing to satisfy it.

The Russian people have never been exposed to this kind of persuader and so their reactions to the American exhibition in Moscow are enlightening. They are getting a glimpse of life in a country where producing enough has long ceased to be a problem, where men tax their brains day and night to give variety to plenty.

It must seem to these masses of Russians, accustomed to regarding the products they use and wear from a strictly utilitarian viewpoint, that at least some American tastes have reached a stage of absurdity and wastefulness.

To a people brought up to regard a chair as a piece of furniture to sit upon, a form-fitting foam rubber lounging chair must seem like unnecessary luxury, while the gadgets that have become indispensable in the American kitchen might be condemned as frivolities.

The Russian people are no different from people anywhere else in the world when it comes to liking the products of material civilization. They certainly must be looking forward to the day when frozen foods will be available, and fresh meat that isn't over-ripe because of lack of refrigeration.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Nixon's Prospects

In the United States, in the year 1959, whatever a public figure does reflects itself in domestic politics. For nearly every public man, in his heart, is a candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

Senator Hubert Humphrey took a trip to Soviet Russia, had a long-winded conversation with Nikita Khrushchev, wrote a magazine article on the subject and became a candidate for President. It is doubtful that the prolonged interview advanced his chances.

Governor Averell Harriman landed in Soviet Russia as a reporter, working for the North American Newspaper Alliance which takes on waifs and strays to do pieces here and there. Harriman's reports on Soviet Russia made interesting reading and it is said that he made other confidential reports to our government. Be that as it may, it rescued him from the oblivion which is the normal lot of defeated Governors and makes him an aspirant for the office of Secretary of State should a Democratic President be elected in 1960.

Vice President Nixon has the advantage of his post when he travels abroad. It is true that President Eisenhower sent his brother, Milton, on this trip to Russia to help Nixon who did not need his help. However, Milton Eisenhower is not likely ever to be a candidate for the Presidency, although the President once said something about Milton having the brains of the family which may be true. By the looks of it, Milton Eisenhower gained no political stature out of this trip, Nixon overshadowing him completely.

In Republican politics, Vice President Nixon has only one contender to deal with, that is, Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York. The propaganda device used against Richard Nixon is the same old gambit used against Robert A. Taft, namely, that Nixon cannot be elected. This is being repeated over and over again every day, the same as it was against Taft. It is the Hitlerian propaganda device of the big lie, as nobody can even guess now who can be elected in November, 1960. Even the same words are used which I will paraphrase:

"Nixon is a fine man. He has made an excellent Vice President. He ought to be nominated for President. But he won't be. He can't win."

The last man who told me that was a pompous but important lawyer, a traditional and one might say, an hereditary Republican. I asked a simple question: "How do you know?"

The creature sputtered and fumed and finally ended with the gossip's anthem: "Everybody says so."

This propaganda killed off Taft. I saw men vote against Taft at the Chicago Convention in 1952 with tears in their eyes, because Taft had been a colleague and friend. I recall talking to a man who in those days cut quite a figure but who now is somewhere counting his toes. He was supposed to be for Taft and was so counted by both sides, but when we had our little conversation, he was twisting his handkerchief like a girl who tries to explain to mamma why she was out after 10 o'clock for the first time.

That is the job being done on Nixon, but it encounters a different situation, namely, that Nixon finds ways of displaying stature. It is difficult for a Vice President. He is a captive of his office. There are many limitations on his conduct, including the necessity of avoiding embarrassment for the President. He cannot organize to campaign because it would be difficult for him to raise a campaign fund while in office. He is like a fighter who goes into the ring with one arm tied behind him. Perhaps that is one reason why so few Vice Presidents have been elected to the Presidency.

On the other hand, his only adversary, Nelson Rockefeller, also is handicapped because he is bogged down in the parochial politics of New York State and New York City and both are very bad indeed. If Rockefeller had time, he and his associates might do a decent job cleaning up the very smelly administrative situation in New York, but by 1960, too little can be accomplished to be notable, even if the greatest talent were available. More likely, the next year will produce a plethora of scandals but the cleansing process is far off.

Therefore Rockefeller is limited to the classical and expensive task of a public relations — Madison Avenue — campaign against Nixon plus such deals as are characteristic of Republican politics. In the past, such deals have produced victories, as, for instance, the nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Munitions Lobby Entertains Under Noses Of Congressional Probers

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — At the Sheraton Park Hotel, right under the nose of Congressman Hebert's investigating committee, the munitions lobby has set up some of the most lavish army entertainment seen in Washington for some time.

Fifty companies doing business with the Pentagon have reserved 50 "hospitality suites" to entertain procurement and contract officers during the Army Association convention this week. This is an expense which the average small business firm can't afford, and is one reason why more and more business goes to the big firms, less to small firms.

Sen. John Sparkmar of Alabama revealed last week that 20 big corporations get one-half of all defense contracts. Official Pentagon figures also show that 100 firms get 74 per cent of the contracts. This is partly because of the retired admirals and generals employed by the big companies, partly because competitive bidding is largely out the window, partly because the big companies can afford to keep regular lobbyists in Washington and entertain lavishly.

Here is how they are entertaining for the army this week:

General Electric, which is the nation's No. 3 defense contractor, has reserved the Madison Room at the Sheraton Park from Sunday morning until Wednesday night for free liquor and entertainment. It is also throwing a big cocktail party in the Burgundy Room Wednesday. GE got $954,000,000 in defense contracts last year and employs 35 retired officers.

General Motors, which did $282,000,000 business with the Pentagon last year took the Burgundy Room for a reception and dinner yesterday. (Aug. 3.)

Hughes Aircraft reserved the Burgundy Room for a cocktail party Tuesday. It got over half a billion dollars in defense orders last year ($565,700,000) and employs seven retired officers.

Sperry Gyroscope and United Aircraft are throwing rival cocktail parties Wednesday afternoon. United aircraft got $400,500,000 in defense orders last year and employs fifteen retired officers.

Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone, a subsidiary of the giant American Tel and Tel with $792,000,000 of defense orders, is throwing a big dinner and reception.

No congressional committee will be able to put the finger on any actual contracts negotiated during these "At Homes to Pentagon Officers," but they are one reason why big contracts to big corporations get bigger and bigger.

Behind The Labor Battle

One of the great legislative dramas of the year is squaring off for a showdown in the House of Representatives this week. It's the battle over a clean-labor bill.

So far the jockeying has been in the wings and cloakrooms of Congress. But soon the fighting will begin out in the open and in earnest. And although the speeches will deal with Jimmy Hoffa and union treasuries, secondary boycotts and hot Cargoes, actually two less-publicized factors will be in congressmen's minds when they step up to vote.

One is a very human factor — the battle between two men both in the twilight of their careers—Sam Rayburn of Texas and Howard Smith of Virginia.

The other is an economic factor, the plan of some industrialists to suck more and more business out of the north into a non-union south.

The struggle between the two elder statesmen, Rayburn and Smith, is the most human part of the labor battle. Speaker Rayburn, now 77 years old, with 46 years service in Congress, has a labor record of which he is proud. He has always been the friend of the working man.

Surrounded by some of the most reactionary political forces in the Southwest, Mr. Sam has remained a liberal. Sometimes he has been influenced by old friendships. But when the chips were down, he has always fought to produce.

Republicrat From Virginia

"Judge" Smith, the swallow-tailed gentleman from Virginia, is listed as a Democrat, but usually votes Republican. He is the spokesman for the big utilities, the National Association of Manufacturers, and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. He is the close friend of GOP leader Charlie Halleck; the two consult on almost every important bill before Congress.

Last January, a strong group of Democrats, led by Chet Holifield of California, wanted to clip Smith's power to throttle bills in the Rules Committee, of which he is chairman. But Sam Rayburn saved Smith. That rescue has now boomeranged. Smith has been behind almost every legislative move to undercut Sam Rayburn's leadership.

Smith today is the real leader behind the tough anti-labor bill introduced by Landrum of Georgia, Democrat, and Griffin of Michigan, Republican, which the Smith-Halleck coalition will try to substitute for the more moderate house labor bill.

If the tough anti-labor bill passes, many northern congressmen, both Republicans and Democrats, figure the North will become an industrial vacuum, that industry will be sucked into the nonlabor South. This appeals to some southern congressmen. But others, including Sam Rayburn, know that it would lead to bitter sectionalism in Congress and attempts to pass discriminatory economic legislation against the South. They also know that in the long run, northern congressmen have the votes.

Those are the backstage factors behind the labor bill as the House of Representatives squares off for a bitter vote.

Nixon Speech Of "Tremendous Significance"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — A phenomenon unparalleled in the history of diplomacy has just occurred. It is of transcendent importance in the struggle for world peace—A "Sputnik," it might be called, in the progress of international relations.

For, in the midst of the "cold war," a leader of one nation has spoken in criticism of a hostile government directly to the people of that country. It was an address as tactful and yet as argumentative as a diplomatic note.

The speech made by Vice President Nixon to the people of the Soviet Union contained little that had not been said before in the formal and informal exchanges of view between the foreign ministers of the two sides at Geneva and through their ambassadors for several years past. But it was of tremendous significance because these words were transmitted directly over the television and radio to the Soviet people inside their own borders and over their own governmental facilities. It was something that could not have been arranged without the sanction of the Soviet government itself, which has hitherto maintained a strict censorship of what might be said to the Soviet people either through the press or over the air.

The Vice President didn't mince words. He made pointed criticisms. But they were couched in earnest, polite, dignified and reasoned phrases. He didn't "pull his punches" but he handled himself without giving offense. Ever since his college days when he was a prize debater, Richard Nixon has known how to argue persuasively in competition with adversaries before big audiences.

The Vice President himself worked six hours on his speech. He chose the words carefully and covered every vital issue. It was a masterpiece of diplomacy, yet it was an effective appeal over the head of a government to the people—something that President Woodrow Wilson first enunciated as a principle in his war address of 1917 when he said that "we have no quarrel with the German people" but only with their autocratic government.

It is most unfortunate that inside the United States so much press speculation by supporters and opponents of Mr. Nixon has been devoted to the question of whether the trip enhances his political prestige for the Presidential contest in 1960. This detracts from the true importance of the Nixon visit to Russia and Poland.

For today it is the impact of the Nixon address on the course of the "cold war" that is alone important. His mission was authorized by President Eisenhower and is therefore associated with the conduct of our foreign relations.

Did the Nixon trip help toward world peace? Did it advance the cause of the West in its indefatigable endeavor to find a common ground for "getting along" with the dictatorship in the Kremlin?

These questions are difficult to answer because Khrushchev is a ruthless man who has been guilty of ordering mass murders in Eastern Europe, where he holds many countries as his captives. He is fanatically wedded to the idea of world conquest by threats of military action, by spreading Communistic ideas and then by infiltrating other governments and taking possession of them.

Should Khrushchev be invited to come to America, and when? This is a subject for diplomacy's experts to work out. The whole thing started with belief on Khrushchev's part that a "Summit" conference would enhance his prestige with his own people. The West thought it better to have a foreign ministers' conference first to ascertain if the Berlin crisis could be solved by such a meeting. President Eisenhower said he would go to a "Summit" meeting only if the results at Geneva "justified it."

Now Geneva is acknowledged to be a failure. Cleverly no doubt Khrushchev figured that, by opening up doors for Vice President Nixon and giving him a chance to visit Russia and Poland, he could get a two-man "Summit" conference anyway. For President Eisenhower has insisted there must be some "give" on the part of Khrushchev before a general "Summit" conference is held so that the West would not seem to be negotiating under the duress of the recent ultimatum to us to get out of Berlin. The demand and accompanying threat have never been withdrawn.

The Soviet Premier says he would like to come to the United States when "the time is ripe." The President told the press last week that such a trip might come about eventually when the American people have been conditioned to it.

How can this happen? Overnight the Soviet leader could withdraw his ultimatum. Maybe that's why he issued it—eventually to get an invitation to come to the United States. If he comes, he can have television and radio audiences to listen to him but he will also have persons in all parties answering him and interrogating him, too. When this appeared to be the way things were shaping up in Scandinava, Nikita Khrushchev backed away though he had been officially invited. The time, he felt, was not ripe. Maybe Khrushchev wants only an invitation to visit the United States, and then may decide that in this case also "the time isn't ripe." Lots of Americans would agree with him.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

Developments in government over the last few years are convincing increasing numbers of people that a politically divided administration can work out for the general good.

For many years political experts believed that an administration controlled by one party and congress by another resulted in a stalemate situation which would bring inaction to governmental affairs.

In 1952 and 1956 millions of people obviously voted for a Republican President and Democratic senators and representatives. While President Eisenhower has won his two White House terms with impressive majorities, he has had a Republican controlled Congress for only the first two years of his term in office.

Yet, in looking back over the record, the government has successfully met a series of foreign crises and seen a sharp recession vanish and be replaced by unprecedented prosperity.

There has been a lot of political name-calling from both sides in the process, but the end result has been gratifying. It is doubtful that more could have been accomplished if one party or the other had control of the legislative as well as the administrative branch of government.

Perhaps the worst thing that can be said for divided control is that it has tended to obscure political responsibility. In the complex maneuverings that accompany formulation of legislation and national policy, it is all too easy for one political party to blame the other for failures and half measures.

But, should the Republicans succeed in winning the White House in 1960, prospects are for a continuation of divided government and divided responsibility, for the Democrats look like almost a sure bet to retain their control of the Senate and House.

Interesting Switch

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—With stepped up investment by American companies in Europe—particularly in the Common Market area—the purchase by a leading West German industrial concern of a substantial stock position in a U.S. manufacturing enterprise is an interetsing switch.

The Daimler Benz Co. is one of group buying into the Studebaker-Packard Corp. The Daimler investment is around $9 million—half in cash and half in notes. It covers about 22,500 shares.

The investment is in the South Bend auto maker's convertible preferred shares which, if turned into common stock, will make Daimler one of the largest Studebaker shareowners.

The biggest investment position — between 40,000 and 45,000 shares — is held by Lehman Bros., the international banking firm. Metropolitan Life Insurance is second with around 30,000 shares.

The preferred shares were held by three insurance companies and 20 commerical banks. They acquired the shares in a financial reorganization of Studebaker last year. They exchanged $54,500,000 Studebaker debt for $16,500,000 in new five per cent notes due in 1973 and $16,500,000 or 165,000 shares of $100 par convertible preferred. The preferred is convertible into 5½ million Studebaker common shares, or at $3 a share.

Metropolitan Life did not sell its preferred holdings but the other two insurance companies — Prudential and Mutual Benefit Life —and most of the banks did. In doing so, they more than recovered their loss in the auto company's financial reorganization.

Studebaker, with its new small car — the Lark — has made a big comeback. The shares which were down to around $10 are now around $12.50. They have been as high as $15.50 this year.

A registration statement covering the preferred shares is now waiting SEC clearance.

The preferred shares have been taken by the various parties — almost 30 who are not a united group — on an investment basis. The filing by the company of a registration statement, however, will permit later sale of the securities.

The distribution of the shares was largely arranged by the Stock Exchange firm of Bear, Stearns & Co. most of these were placed with investors as long ago as six months.

Daimler Benz and Studebaker have had a close association for the last two years, including Studebaker distribution in the U. S. of Mercedes cars and trucks. The Daimler purchase of 22,500 Studebaker preferred can become 750,000 common, or just under six per cent of Studebaker common outstanding after all the preferred is converted and sale of stock to officers and employes.

Studebaker now has around 6,440,000 common outstanding, and conversion of the preferred will add 5½ million to the total. Another million shares is reserved for offering to certain officers and key employes.

In addition to the West German holdings, an English group also is understood to have taken a position in the preferred.

American companies seeing themselves priced out of the European market have been establishing branches and investing in existing companies. Chrysler recently bought into Simca of France. Ford and General Motors have large investments in companies on the continent and Britain.

Now a West German company is buying into an American automobile company. This recognizes that the biggest market for cars is the U. S. Also, it is further evidence — if any is needed — of West Germany's comback. The West German economy is now the strongest on the continent.

Quick Action Needed In Case Of Snakebite

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

An antivenin is available that protects against all poisonous snakes in the United States, except the coral snake. The product comes in a kit containing dried serum, an ampoule of sterile water, and a disposable syringe. The dry serum remains stable for at least five years without refrigeration.

In the past, snake bite victims failed to receive anti-serum because it was not known what type of snake had been encountered. In many instances, the local physician assumed that the snake was of a species prevalent in the area and acted accordingly. Some persons survived without the use of antivenin, and it was difficult to know whether the physician guessed right or wrong.

Poisonous serpents are found in 48 of our states, the only exception being Maine and Alaska. More than 3,000 bites are recorded annually but fewer than 20 victims die.

Snake bite always is a medical emergency and every victim ought to be hospitalized if possible. Treatment is more effective when started early. The first rule is to remain calm so the circulation slows, which delays the spread of the poison to the rest of the body. Ice packs also slow up absorption.

A tightly tied tourniquent is applied immediately to trap the poison in the region of the bitten extremity. Next make multiple incisions through the fang marks and employ suction with the mouth, a suction bulb, or whatever is available; the venom is harmless should it be swallowed.

Antivenin then is given and the blood type is determined quickly, because later the toxins from the venom cause such changes in the blood that typing is impossible. This is important because a blood transfusion may be needed. The victim is out of danger if he survives the first 48 hours.

Snake bite is more serious in the very young and very old. A bite on an extremity is less dangerous than one near a vital organ. The degree of penetration varies with the clothing worn and the condition of the snake's fangs. Large snakes are more dangerous because they insert a bigger dose of venom.

VENOUS BLOOD

V. M. writes: If blood is to be tested can it be taken from a vein anywhere in the body or just the arm?

REPLY

Anywhere along an arm or a leg where a large vein is close to the surface. An arm, usually is selected because the veins are prominent and blood can be removed with minimal distress. An ear lobe or fingertip is used when only a drop of blood is needed.

VIRAL INFECTION

Mrs. J. writes: My daughter's illness has been diagnosed as Coxsackie infection. Will you please write something about this disease?

REPLY

We did, in 1951, when the disease was first demonstrated. Since then we have referred to it from time to time. This viral infection of children is characterized by sudden onset, fever, sore throat, and cold sores in the mouth. Another type affects the chest mainly and produces pain similar to that of pleurisy.

ALLERGY AND ECZEMA

P. T. writes: Is dry eczema on the face due to allergy?

REPLY

Yes, or to a somewhat related condition — contact dermatitis. The word eczema is a catch-all for various types of skin lesions.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

American League Homers Beat National All-Stars 5-3

Yogi Berra's 2-Run Clout Payoff Blow

Orioles' Walker Winning Pitcher; Drysdale Is Loser

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Yogi Berra's two-run homer powered the American League to a 5-3 victory over the National League Monday in the 27th All-Star game featured by five four-baggers.

Rocky Colavito, Cleveland's slugging outfielder, and Frank Malzone, Boston third baseman, also hit home runs for the Americans while Frank Robinson of Cincinnati and Junior Gilliam of Los Angeles connected for the Nationals.

A paid attendance of 54,982 highly partisan fans sat silently throughout most of the two hour and 42 minute game, an unprecedented second All-Star contest in the same season. They had a chance to cheer in the last half of the ninth when Robinson opened with a single, his third hit, and Wally Moon coaxed a walk from Cal McLish. The veteran Cleveland right - hander, however, choked off the last threat by disposing of the next three batters without a ball leaving the infield.

Walker Is Winner

Jerry Walker, first of five American League pitchers who limited the National League sluggers to half a dozen hits, was credited with the victory the first time he ever appeared in an All-Star classic.

The 20-year-old Baltimore righthander hurled the first three inning, allowing two hits and one run. He walked one and struck out one.

The defeat was charged to Don Drysdale, one of the National heroes in its 5-4 triumph over the Americans in the first All-Star contest in Pittsburgh, July 7. The big Dodger righthander was rapped for four hits in his three-inning tenure, when the Americans picked up their first three runs on homers by Malzone and Berra, the latter's in the third giving the Americans a lead they never lost.

FIRST INNING

AMERICAN — Drysdale's first pitch to Runnels was a fast ball at the knees for a strike. Runnels struck out. Fox walked on a 3-2 pitch. Musial fielded Williams' topped roller and threw to Temple, who covered first. Fox advanced to second. Berra struck out.

Pirates	2	9	.182

The Phillies edged the Red Sox, 3-2, on Jimmy Mertens home run in the third inning to clinch a tie for the Dapper Division crown of the Dapper Dan Little League last night at Penn Avenue.

Gaining revenge for the only defeat on their record, the Phillies backed Howard Reynolds four-hit pitching with single runs in the first, second and third innings and made them hold up for their 11th triumph in 12 games. The Red Sox handed the league-leaders their only loss, 6-2, on July 20.

Reynolds, picking up his fifth pitching victory this year and 12th over a two-year span, allowed four hits and fanned 11. He walked four men, two of them in the sixth inning when the Red Sox rallied for a run. The rally fell short however when Reynolds fanned the final two batsmen with the tying run on base.

Morrison, Martin, Miller and Klavuhn shared the losers' four hits, all singles. Mertens had a single in addition to his home run while Ollie Perkins banged out a pair of one-base knocks for the winners.

With three games remaining, the Phillies now lead the second-place Cardinals, whom they meet in their next game, by three games. A victory over the Cardinals will enable last-year's pennant and playoff winners to retain their laurels. The score:

American League Homers Beat National All-Stars 5-3

Yogi Berra's 2-Run Clout Payoff Blow

Orioles' Walker Winning Pitcher; Drysdale Is Loser

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Yogi Berra's two-run homer powered the American League to a 5-3 victory over the National League Monday in the 27th All-Star game featured by five four-baggers.

Rocky Colavito, Cleveland's slugging outfielder, and Frank Malzone, Boston third baseman, also hit home runs for the Americans while Frank Robinson of Cincinnati and Junior Gilliam of Los Angeles connected for the Nationals.

A paid attendance of 54,982 highly partisan fans sat silently throughout most of the two hour and 42 minute game, an unprecedented second All-Star contest in the same season. They had a chance to cheer in the last half of the ninth when Robinson opened with a single, his third hit, and Wally Moon coaxed a walk from Cal McLish. The veteran Cleveland right-hander, however, choked off the last threat by disposing of the next three batters without a ball leaving the infield.

Walker Is Winner

Jerry Walker, first of five American League pitchers who limited the National League sluggers to half a dozen hits, was credited with the victory the first time he ever appeared in an All-Star classic.

The 20-year-old Baltimore right-hander hurled the first three inning, allowing two hits and one run. He walked one and struck out one.

The defeat was charged to Don Drysdale, one of the National heroes in its 5-4 triumph over the Americans in the first All-Star contest in Pittsburgh, July 7. The big Dodger righthander was rapped for four hits in his three-inning tenure, when the Americans picked up their first three runs on homers by Malzone and Berra, the latter's in the third giving the Americans a lead they never lost.

Dapper Phillies Beat Red Sox, 3-2; Clinch Title Tie

Yankees	4	6	.400
Giants	3	9	.250
Pirates	2	9	.182

The Phillies edged the Red Sox, 3-2, on Jimmy Mertens home run in the third inning to clinch a tie for the Dapper Division crown of the Dapper Dan Little League last night at Penn Avenue.

Gaining revenge for the only defeat on their record, the Phillies backed Howard Reynolds four-hit pitching with single runs in the first, second and third innings and made them hold up for their 11th triumph in 12 games. The Red Sox handed the league-leaders their only loss, 6-2, on July 20.

Reynolds, picking up his fifth pitching victory this year and 12th over a two-year span, allowed four hits and fanned 11. He walked four men, two of them in the sixth inning when the Red Sox rallied for a run. The rally fell short however when Reynolds fanned the final two batsmen with the tying run on base.

Morrison, Martin, Miller and Klavuhn shared the losers' four hits, all singles. Mertens had a single in addition to his home run while Ollie Perkins banged out a pair of one-base knocks for the winners.

With three games remaining, the Phillies now lead the second-place Cardinals, whom they meet in their next game, by three games. A victory over the Cardinals will enable last-year's pennant and playoff winners to retain their laurels. The score:

Savage, 18-1, with a 15-hit attack on the latter's diamond. Other victories were registered by Franklin over Klondyke, 13-9, and Zihlman over Westernport, 3-2, with a last-inning rally.

Lonaconing tallied twice in each of the first two innings to back up Johnson's airtight hurling. Hank Winner belted a home run and Roger Wilson and Cokie Robertson each contributed a two-bagger in the assault. George Miller and Ted Wilson had the hits, both singles, off Johnson.

Barton, meanwhile, bombarded Mt. Savage for four-run rallies in the fourth and sixth frames and then scored eight runs in the seventh to add insult to injury. Grover Fazenbaker pitched three-hit hall for the winners and was tagged for Mt. Savage's only run on Williams' double in the seventh.

Mike Muir had a home run and a single; Butch Young smacked a double; Harry Fazenbaker collected three singles; Buck Smith had two singles and a triple; and Mousey Thomas belted a three-bagger and a snigle in the Barton attack.

The Barton victory was its 23rd of the year with three games left. Lonaconing trails the leaders by four games.

Tito Francona Hitting But May Not Win Crown

Slugger Hasn't Enough At Bats

NEW YORK (AP)—Although he owns the highest average among the regulars and has been one of the outstanding surprises of the 1959 season, Tito Francona of Cleveland has virtually no chance of winning the American League batting championship.

Francona shows a .417 percentage in 74 games. He had seven hits in Sunday's double-header against Baltimore.

However, the 25-year-old outfielder, who was acquired from Detroit last March 21 in a trade for Larry Doby, has had only 216 official at bats. This coupled with 16 bases on balls, four sacrifices and one hit by pitcher gives him 237 total appearances. To qualify for the title with the required 477 total appearances, Francona would have to collect 240 additional appearances in the Indians' remaining 50 games.

Francona has 90 hits, including 13 doubles, 1 triple and 11 homers. His RBI total is 50.

The actual batting leaders are Harvey Kuenn of Detroit in the American League and Hank Aaron of Milwaukee, in the National.

Kuenn's average is .343. He took over the top spot as Roger Maris of Kansas City slumped to fourth place at .326.

Aaron moved up three points to .366. Runner-up Joe Cunningham of St. Louis is hitting .343. Bill White of St. Louis holds third place at .330.

Harmon Killebrew of Washington continues to lead the American League in circuit blows with 33. Rocky Colavito of Cleveland, who also had one, is next with 31.

Dan Senators Whip Indians At Park, 7-4

Manager Al Manges Senators made their record in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League at .667 with their eighth victory yesterday over the Indians at Constitution Park Field. The score was 7-4.

In the first game played at the newly dedicated ball field at Constitution Park the Senators backed Don Wagner's five-hit, 11-strikeout pitching with a nine-hit attack that included four doubles.

The loss was the ninth for the Indians who hit two doubles and a triple.

Wagner smacked out two doubles, John Robinson had a two-bagger and a single, Mike Haines hit a double and single and Ted Nave collected a pair of singles for the Senators. Harris had two hits while Birmingham tripled and Daniels and Cunningham doubled for the losers. The score:

Taussig's Homer Wins For Senators

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Don Taussig hit a bases-empty home run in the fifth inning Monday night to give the Charleston Senators a 1-0 shutout over the Indianapolis Indians.

Winner Bob Bruce allowed only four hits, two of them going to losing pitcher Cloyd Boyer. The other two were chalked up by first baseman Ron Jackson.

The Senators also collected four hits in the error-less American Assn. game. Besides Taussig's game - winning homer, Frank Kostro came across with two singles and Ossie Virgil accounted for another one-bagger.

Yogi Berra's

young Oriole southpaw, shared pitching honors with Walker and McLish. Each gave up only one hit as the Nationals were unable to collect more than one in any inning.

Aside from Drysdale, the National League pitchers acquitted themselves nobly. Philadelphia's Gene Conley, who hurled the fourth and fifth ining, retired six of the seven batters he faced, with only a walk to Pete Runnels to mar his work. Sam Jones of San Francisco yielded an unearned run in his two inning stint. Elroy Face of the Pittsburgh Pirates allowed the other American League run, this one coming on a tremendous eighth inning home run by Colavito.

Ignores Screen

Four of the American League's six hits were made by southpaw swingers. Nellie Fox of Chicago had two, and the Yankees' Mickey Mantle and Berra had one each. The other two, of course, were the home runs by the right-handed hitting Malzone and Colavito.

Bill Rosensohn Resigns As Head Of Enterprise

Promoter Quits, Feuds With Lawyer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bitterness remained the keynote as Bill Rosensohn Monday severed all connection with Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc., which promoted the first Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight and held a contract for the rematch.

"I am resigning as president and director and hope to dispose of my one-third stock interest before the end of the week," the promoter announced at a press conference Monday.

Rosensohn said that last Friday, when his feud with New York attorney Vincent Vellela flared in public, he offered to sell his one-third interest to Vellela for $75,000, or buy Vellela's two-thirds interest for $150,000.

He said he set the deadline for acceptance of his proposal as noon Monday, and that Vellela "did not favor me with even the courtesy of a reply."

Vellela said he had tried to get in touch with Rosensohn, but circumstances prevented him from contacting the promoter. In any circumstances, he said, he would not buy without first having an opportunity to look over the firm's books.

The bitterness between the two partners came to light at a press conference last Friday following a meeting of the directors, meaning Rosensohn and Vellela, during which Vellela's vote elected Irving Kahn as a third director.

Kahn is president of TelePrompTer, Inc., which had the ancillary rights (to radio, TV and movies) to the first fight and has them for the second. He and Rosensohn were not on friendly terms, and Rosensohn had said he would handle the ancillary rights for the second fight himself.

Rosensohn said he hoped to remain in the boxing picture in some capacity, but he was vague as to his plans.

Vellela said he was confident the Patterson-Johansson rematch would take place Sept. 22, as tentatively scheduled, and that the site might be announced in less than a week, or by Aug. 10.

Vellela, who is secretary-treasurer of the promotional organization, said his disagreement with Rosensohn dated back to a week after the June title fight. All parties were vague as to the exact cause, although Kahn said he himself objected to Rosensohn saying he would handle the ancillary rights when he, Kahn, had them all the time.

Ridgeley Whips Wildcats, 8-6

Ridgeley scored its third victory in the Maryland-West Virginia Little League to tie Midland for the top run with 3-0 yesterday by turning back the Columbia Street Wildcats at Ridgeley, 8-6.

Ridgeley took advantage of six Wildcat errors to push over eight runs on only four hits. Danny McFarland smacked a fourth inning home run with one aboard to account for the winning tallies. Gary Bell chipped in with a triple for the winners.

Shircliff had a fourth-inning homer also for the Wildcats and Scaletta banged out a three-bagger. Charles Coffman was the winning pitcher although touched for eight bingles by the Wildcats. The score:

COLUMBIA ST.	300 201	6	8	6
RIDGELEY	330 20x	8	4	3

Deffinbaugh and Crabtree. Coffman and Ball.

Gurley's Down Forty-Niners For 4th Win

Gurley's captured their fourth straight victory in the High School Rec League yesterday at Fort Hill field by coming from behind to edge the Forty Niners, 6-5, in eight innings.

The victors shoved over the tying run in the seventh inning and won the game in the first overtime frame when Charles Rice singled McKay home from third base. John Balch had two hits for the winners while Norris tripled for the Forty Niners.

In another High School tilt the Toy Shop stayed on the heels of the league-leaders by winning over the VFW, 7-5, at Stitcher Field. A four-run rally in the sixth inning gave the Toy Shop the win. The game was called at the end of six innings because of dark.

Butch Bosley and Glen Shipway had two hits apiece with Shipway's single with the sacks loaded highlighting the seventh-inning rally. Schindler had two hits for the VFW. The scores:

Tito Francona Hitting But May Not Win Crown

Slugger Hasn't Enough At Bats

NEW YORK (AP)—Although he owns the highest average among the regulars and has been one of the outstanding surprises of the 1959 season, Tito Francona of Cleveland has virtually no chance of winning the American League batting championship.

Francona shows a .417 percentage in 74 games. He had seven hits in Sunday's double-header against Baltimore.

However, the 25-year-old outfielder, who was acquired from Detroit last March 21 in a trade for Larry Doby, has had only 216 official at bats. This coupled with 16 bases on balls, four sacrifices and one hit by pitcher gives him 237 total appearances. To qualify for the title with the required 477 total appearances, Francona would have to collect 240 additional appearances in the Indians' remaining 50 games.

Francona has 90 hits, including 13 doubles, 1 triple and 11 homers. His RBI total is 50.

The actual batting leaders are Harvey Kuenn of Detroit in the American League and Hank Aaron of Milwaukee, in the National.

Kuenn's average is .343. He took over the top spot as Roger Maris of Kansas City slumped to fourth place at .326.

Aaron moved up three points to .366. Runner-up Joe Cunningham of St. Louis is hitting .343. Bill White of St. Louis holds third place at .330.

Harmon Killebrew of Washington continues to lead the American League in circuit blows with 33. Rocky Colavito of Cleveland, who also had one, is next with 31.

Dan Senators Whip Indians At Park, 7-4

Manager Al Manges Senators made their record in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League at .667 with their eighth victory yesterday over the Indians at Constitution Park Field. The score was 7-4.

In the first game played at the newly dedicated ball field at Constitution Park the Senators backed Don Wagner's five-hit, 11-strikeout pitching with a nine-hit attack that included four doubles.

The loss was the ninth for the Indians who hit two doubles and a triple.

Wagner smacked out two doubles, John Robinson had a two-bagger and a single, Mike Haines hit a double and single and Ted Nave collected a pair of singles for the Senators. Harris had two hits while Birmingham tripled and Daniels and Cunningham doubled for the losers. The score:

SENATORS	212 020—7	9	0
INDIANS	200 011—4	5	0

Wagner and Nave. Sloan and Birmingham.

Taussig's Homer Wins For Senators

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Don Taussig hit a bases-empty home run in the fifth inning Monday night to give the Charleston Senators a 1-0 shutout over the Indianapolis Indians.

Winner Bob Bruce allowed only four hits, two of them going to losing pitcher Cloyd Boyer. The other two were chalked up by first baseman Ron Jackson.

The Senators also collected four hits in the error-less American Assn. game. Besides Taussig's game-winning homer, Frank Kostro came across with two singles and Ossie Virgil accounted for another one-bagger.

Indianapolis	000 000 000—0	4	0
Charleston	000 010 00X—1	4	0

Boyer, Kuzava (8) and Carreon. Bruce and Lau. L-Boyer. HR-Taussig.

young Oriole southpaw, shared pitching honors with Walker and McLish. Each gave up only one hit as the Nationals were unable to collect more than one in any inning.

Aside from Drysdale, the National League pitchers acquitted themselves nobly. Philadelphia's Gene Conley, who hurled the fourth and fifth ining, retired six of the seven batters he faced, with only a walk to Pete Runnels to mar his work. Sam Jones of San Francisco yielded an unearned run in his two inning stint. Elroy Face of the Pittsburgh Pirates allowed the other American League run, this one coming on a tremendous eighth inning home run by Colavito.

Ignores Screen

Four of the American League's six hits were made by southpaw swingers. Nellie Fox of Chicago had two, and the Yankees' Mickey Mantle and Berra had one each. The other two, of course, were the home runs by the right-handed hitting Malzone and Colavito.

Bill Rosensohn Resigns As Head Of Enterprise

Promoter Quits, Feuds With Lawyer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bitterness remained the keynote as Bill Rosensohn Monday severed all connection with Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc., which promoted the first Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight and held a contract for the rematch.

"I am resigning as president and director and hope to dispose of my one-third stock interest before the end of the week," the promoter announced at a press conference Monday.

Rosensohn said that last Friday, when his feud with New York attorney Vincent Vellela flared in public, he offered to sell his one-third interest to Vellela for $75,000, or buy Vellela's two-thirds interest for $150,000.

He said he set the deadline for acceptance of his proposal as noon Monday, and that Vellela "did not favor me with even the courtesy of a reply."

Vellela said he had tried to get in touch with Rosensohn, but circumstances prevented him from contacting the promoter. In any circumstances, he said, he would not buy without first having an opportunity to look over the firm's books.

The bitterness between the two partners came to light at a press conference last Friday following a meeting of the directors, meaning Rosensohn and Vellela, during which Vellela's vote elected Irving Kahn as a third director.

Kahn is president of TelePrompter, Inc., which had the ancillary rights (to radio, TV and movies) to the first fight and has them for the second. He and Rosensohn were not on friendly terms, and Rosensohn had said he would handle the ancillary rights for the second fight himself.

Rosensohn said he hoped to remain in the boxing picture in some capacity, but he was vague as to his plans.

Vellela said he was confident the Patterson-Johansson rematch would take place Sept. 22, as tentatively scheduled, and that the site might be announced in less than a week, or by Aug. 10.

Vellela, who is secretary-treasurer of the promotional organization, said his disagreement with Rosensohn dated back to a week after the June title fight. All parties were vague as to the exact cause, although Kahn said he himself objected to Rosensohn saying he would handle the ancillary rights when he, Kahn, had them all the time.

Ridgeley Whips Wildcats, 8-6

Ridgeley scored its third victory in the Maryland-West Virginia Little League to tie Midland for the top run with 3-0 yesterday by turning back the Columbia Street Wildcats at Ridgeley, 8-6.

Ridgeley took advantage of six Wildcat errors to push over eight runs on only four hits. Danny McFarland smacked a fourth inning home run with one aboard to account for the winning tallies. Gary Bell chipped in with a triple for the winners.

Shircliff had a fourth-inning homer also for the Wildcats and Scaletta banged out a three-bagger. Charles Coffman was the winning pitcher although touched for eight bingles by the Wildcats. The score:

Gurley's Down Forty-Niners For 4th Win

Gurley's captured their fourth straight victory in the High School Rec League yesterday at Fort Hill field by coming from behind to edge the Forty Niners, 6-5, in eight innings.

The victors shoved over the tying run in the seventh inning and won the game in the first overtime frame when Charles Rice singled McKay home from third base. John Balch had two hits for the winners while Norris tripled for the Forty Niners.

In another High School tilt the Toy Shop stayed on the heels of the league-leaders by winning over the VFW, 7-5, at Stitcher Field. A four-run rally in the sixth inning gave the Toy Shop the win. The game was called at the end of six innings because of dark.

Butch Bosley and Glen Shipway had two hits apiece with Shipway's single with the sacks loaded highlighting the seventh-inning rally. Schindler had two hits for the VFW. The scores:

Sudden Cold Snap Comes To End

The Weather Bureau predicts warm and sunny weather today with temperatures high in the 80s. The above-average temperatures follows a sudden cold snap which hit here Sunday night, dropping temperatures down in the 40s.

Oakland recorded 41 degrees and 48 degrees was registered at Constitution Park. The low readings were at least 40 degrees under the high readings noted Sunday afternoon.

The normal high for this period is from 80 degrees in the mountains to 87 degrees in the lower parts in the state.

Normal lows vary from the upper 50s in the mountains to the low 60s elsewhere. The Weather Bureau said temperatures should be from two to four degrees above normal during the next five days.

Miller Pleads Guilty In Theft At Cemetery

Charles Reed Miller of Hazen Road yesterday morning pleaded guilty to breaking and entering a storage shed at the Zion Memorial Park, Bedford Road, when he was given a trial in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris deferred sentencing the man until he gets a report from David Steele, probation officer.

Miller was tried on a criminal information which was filed by the State's Attorney's office. Assistant State's Attorney Donald Mason prosecuted the case yesterday.

Last Wednesday Miller waived a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate's Court and was committed to Allegany County jail in default of $500 bond for action of the October term of the grand jury.

On July 17, tools valued at $441 were taken from the shed. The burglary and larceny were investigated by State Police Tfc. Milton Hart and Trooper W. L. Lewis and City Police Detective Lieutenant James E. Van.

The Wheatstone bridge, a device for measuring the electrical resistance of a conductor, is named after its inventor, Sir Charles Wheatstone.

Sudden Cold Snap Comes To End

The Weather Bureau predicts warm and sunny weather today with temperatures high in the 80s. The above-average temperatures follows a sudden cold snap which hit here Sunday night, dropping temperatures down in the 40s.

Oakland recorded 41 degrees and 48 degrees was registered at Constitution Park. The low readings were at least 40 degrees under the high readings noted Sunday afternoon.

The normal high for this period is from 80 degrees in the mountains to 87 degrees in the lower parts in the state.

Normal lows vary from the upper 50s in the mountains to the low 60s elsewhere. The Weather Bureau said temperatures should be from two to four degrees above normal during the next five days.

In ancient times, people often paid their tithes and taxes in wines.

Miller Pleads Guilty In Theft At Cemetery

Charles Reed Miller of Hazen Road yesterday morning pleaded guilty to breaking and entering a storage shed at the Zion Memorial Park, Bedford Road, when he was given a trial in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris deferred sentencing the man until he gets a report from David Steele, probation officer.

Miller was tried on a criminal information which was filed by the State's Attorney's office. Assistant State's Attorney Donald Mason prosecuted the case yesterday.

Last Wednesday Miller waived a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate's Court and was committed to Allegany County jail in default of $500 bond for action of the October term of the grand jury.

On July 17, tools valued at $441 were taken from the shed. The burglary and larceny were investigated by State Police Tfc. Milton Hart and Trooper W. L. Lewis and City Police Detective Lieutenant James E. Van.

The Wheatstone bridge, a device for measuring the electrical resistance of a conductor, is named after its inventor, Sir Charles Wheatstone.

Police Probe Thefts From Automobiles

Det. Thomas See said the complaints all involved thefts from automobiles.

Donald Riley, of Herndon, Va., advised police that while he was unloading his car in front of the Central YMCA a number of items were stolen. The loot included two pairs of pants, two shirts and a belt, all valued at $37.

Henry H. Kirk, 514 Warren Street, reported two car mirrors valued at $40, stolen from his parked car.

G. E. Williams, 210 Saratoga Street, reported the tail light assembly stolen from his auto. The assembly was valued at $5.

Marjorie Kolb, 615 Patterson Avenue, informed local authorities that a custom made radio, valued at $50, had been stolen from her car.

B. E. Keller, 616 Lynn Street, reported two gallon cans, an ash tray and flashlight missing from his car, and Mrs. Earl R. Paul, 624 Washington Street, said a side-view mirror, valued at $8, had been removed from her auto.

Richard Buskey, 422 Kean Terrace, notified police that someone smashed a widow of his car and stole several items including a master spinning reel, a Wonder spinning rod, a fishing tackle box, a pair of golf shoes, 35 to 40 golf balls, a golf club, golf umbrella and a golf bag, all valued at $75.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	3 ♦
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	6 ♥
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣.

When one examines the combined holdings of North and South it becomes apparent that their slam contract today is pretty hopeless. But this is very difficult to foresee in the bidding. North's queen of diamonds is wasted and it will be seen that he has the wrong short suit. Had he two clubs and two spades there would have been no problem at all.

The auction was short and to the point. When North heard his partner open the bidding with one heart, he sensed a slam and flashed the signal immediately by making a jump shift. However, his opponents proceeded to consume valuable bidding space, and when the bidding got back to him, he elected to shoot it out for a slam in hearts.

The prospect was dismal when the king of clubs was opened. Declarer could see 11 tricks and apparently the only hope was a squeeze for the 12th. That could come off if the hand with the clubs also held four diamonds so that at the end he could not protect both. But in order to effect a squeeze it would be necessary to first concede the losing trick to the enemy. So declarer ducked and when the club continuation was ruffed by East, school was out.

The winning play is not easy to see. When the nine of clubs appears from East on the first trick, it looks dangerously like a singleton and it might be fatal to concede that trick. If East's club is alone and he also has four diamonds, there is a neat way to make the hand.

Declarer wins the first trick, draws the trumps and cashes the ace of spades clearing that suit from both hands. Then come the three high diamonds. On the third lead of this suit South discards one of his clubs. The eight of diamonds is then played and East covers with the jack. Declarer permits him to hold this trick, discarding another club and East is obliged to lead a spade. This allows South to discard his last remaining club and ruff the trick in dummy.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

To flatten the stomach do this sure-fire exercise each day.

Here's A Good Stomach Reconditioner!

Mothers usually have to recondition that mid-section to rid themselves of a "bicycle tire" or two after the arrival of the baby.

Not only does their diet have to contain many of the good proteins needed to rebuild tissue more firmly, but exercise must be included to strengthen the natural "muscular corset" which everyone has to protect the abdomen — the most vital and vulnerable region of the body.

Here is one sitting-up exercise which is imperative that not only a mother, but everyone must do who wants a good figure. It should be done starting today and every day the rest of your lives. It is called the "stomach lift." It should be done on arising and before retiring, without fail.

The best way to do this exercise is to first place the body in a slant position — with the head lower than the feet (the raised end shouldn't be more than 12 or 15 inches high). Now, draw in your stomach as you count one. Draw your stomach in and up, farther, on the count of two. Finally, on the count of three, you draw it in close to your spine, which is pressed flat against the board. Try to hold position while you count to 10. Then relax, and repeat the exercise 10 times.

This is an exercise you can do wherever you happen to be and you should make a habit of it (you'll see the importance of it below). On the beach, when you are waiting for a bus, sitting under a hair dryer or watching a dull TV commercial.

Not only is this exercise good for your stomach. It will help your waistline — improve your posture, grace, well-being and self confidence. We will even go so far as to say you will be saved from middle - age spread and throat wrinkles.

For further help in this area, see my booklet, FIGURED FOR YOU, which gives expert detailed instructions and illustrates how to select foundation garments that provide comeliness, control and healthful comfort for your individual type of figure. Send 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper for FIGURED FOR YOU.

Police Probe Thefts From Automobiles

Det. Thomas See said the complaints all involved thefts from automobiles.

Donald Riley, of Herndon, Va., advised police that while he was unloading his car in front of the Central YMCA a number of items were stolen. The loot included two pairs of pants, two shirts and a belt, all valued at $37.

Henry H. Kirk, 514 Warren Street, reported two car mirrors valued at $40, stolen from his parked car.

G. E. Williams, 210 Saratoga Street, reported the tail light assembly stolen from his auto. The assembly was valued at $5.

Marjorie Kolb, 615 Patterson Avenue, informed local authorities that a custom made radio, valued at $50, had been stolen from her car.

B. E. Keller, 616 Lynn Street, reported two gallon cans, an ash tray and flashlight missing from his car, and Mrs. Earl R. Paul, 624 Washington Street, said a side-view mirror, valued at $8, had been removed from her auto.

Richard Buskey, 422 Kean Terrace, notified police that someone smashed a widow of his car and stole several items including a master spinning reel, a Wonder spinning rod, a fishing tackle box, a pair of golf shoes, 35 to 40 golf balls, a golf club, golf umbrella and a golf bag, all valued at $75.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	3 ♦
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	6 ♥
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣.

When one examines the combined holdings of North and South it becomes apparent that their slam contract today is pretty hopeless. But this is very difficult to foresee in the bidding. North's queen of diamonds is wasted and it will be seen that he has the wrong short suit. Had he two clubs and two spades there would have been no problem at all.

The auction was short and to the point. When North heard his partner open the bidding with one heart, he sensed a slam and flashed the signal immediately by making a jump shift. However, his opponents proceeded to consume valuable bidding space, and when the bidding got back to him, he elected to shoot it out for a slam in hearts.

The prospect was dismal when the king of clubs was opened. Declarer could see 11 tricks and apparently the only hope was a squeeze for the 12th. That could come off if the hand with the clubs also held four diamonds so that at the end he could not protect both. But in order to effect a squeeze it would be necessary to first concede the losing trick to the enemy. So declarer ducked and when the club continuation was ruffed by East, school was out.

The winning play is not easy to see. When the nine of clubs appears from East on the first trick, it looks dangerously like a singleton and it might be fatal to concede that trick. If East's club is alone and he also has four diamonds, there is a neat way to make the hand.

Declarer wins the first trick, draws the trumps and cashes the ace of spades clearing that suit from both hands. Then come the three high diamonds. On the third lead of this suit South discards one of his clubs. The eight of diamonds is then played and East covers with the jack. Declarer permits him to hold this trick, discarding another club and East is obliged to lead a spade. This allows South to discard his last remaining club and ruff the trick in dummy.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

To flatten the stomach do this sure-fire exercise each day.

Here's A Good Stomach Reconditioner!

Mothers usually have to recondition that mid-section to rid themselves of a "bicycle tire" or two after the arrival of the baby.

Not only does their diet have to contain many of the good proteins needed to rebuild tissue more firmly, but exercise must be included to strengthen the natural "muscular corset" which everyone has to protect the abdomen — the most vital and vulnerable region of the body.

Here is one sitting-up exercise which is imperative that not only a mother, but everyone must do who wants a good figure. It should be done starting today and every day the rest of your lives. It is called the "stomach lift." It should be done on arising and before retiring, without fail.

The best way to do this exercise is to first place the body in a slant position — with the head lower than the feet (the raised end shouldn't be more than 12 or 15 inches high). Now, draw in your stomach as you count one. Draw your stomach in and up, farther, on the count of two. Finally, on the count of three, you draw it in close to your spine, which is pressed flat against the board. Try to hold position while you count to 10. Then relax, and repeat the exercise 10 times.

This is an exercise you can do wherever you happen to be and you should make a habit of it (you'll see the importance of it below). On the beach, when you are waiting for a bus, sitting under a hair dryer or watching a dull TV commercial.

Not only is this exercise good for your stomach. It will help your waistline — improve your posture, grace, well-being and self confidence. We will even go so far as to say you will be saved from middle - age spread and throat wrinkles.

For further help in this area, see my booklet, FIGURED FOR YOU, which gives expert detailed instructions and illustrates how to select foundation garments that provide comeliness, control and healthful comfort for your individual type of figure. Send 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper for FIGURED FOR YOU.

Stock Market Industrial Average At Record High

NEW YORK (UPI)— Improvement in General Foods, International Nickel, Texaco, U.S. Steel and Goodyear Tire lifted the industrial average into new high ground for the sixth session in a row although irregularity hit some sections of the stock list.

The tire shares, oils, metals, drugs, some of the chemicals, steels and electronics showed good gains. Utilities, too, were higher on balance, with a gain of more than 2 points in Peoples Gas the chief feature.

Of a total 1,188 issues traded, 525 finished higher on the day, 425 lower.

Activity was stepped up a bit over the Friday pace, with turnover totaling 2,410,000 shares, compared with 2,270,000.

The tires showed improvement running past a point in Goodyear, General Tire, Firestone and U.S. Rubber.

Among oils, Plymouth and Texaco were the features with gains close to 2 points. Shell and Royal Dutch gained nearly a point. Jersey Standard, up ¾ point, was the day's most active issue.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain prices were mostly lower Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ½ to up ⅜; corn off ¾ to up ⅛; oats off ½; new oats off ⅛ to ¾; rye off ½ to up ⅜ and soybeans off 1¾ to 2¾.

Reports of general rains through most of the grain belt brought on selling in the market Monday, particularly in soybeans.

Nearby wheat prices eased with scattered selling and light hedging. Small purchases by mills and expectations of a large export business helped support prices earlier.

Corn was mixed, with some firmness in the September contract. Other months were lower. A good demand for December at 113 had a steadying influence on the market.

Export subsidies were granted on 1,755,000 bushels of corn and 406,000 bushels of oats. Bids on 99,500 bushels of rye were rejected.

Oats prices weakened on selling by local longs and moderate hedging.

Rye was irregular. The futures ignored rain reports early in the session and reached new highs for the season before easing.

Soybeans led the market in the decline. Some contracts were more than 2 cents lower. Realizing sales and rain reports were influences in the losses.

No export trade was reported.

Outside markets were mixed. The Winnipeg exchange was closed because of a British holiday.

Chicago Board of Trade statisticians estimate the U.S. visible supply of wheat last week increased 7,667,000 bushels, leaving 436,034,000; corn decreased 2,538,000, leaving 87,849,000; oats increased 1,981,000, leaving 17,171,000; rye increased 1,041,000, leaving 4,093,000; barley decreased 759,000, leaving 13,237,000 and soybeans decreased 784,000, leaving 9,448,000 bushels.

Stock Market Industrial Average At Record High

NEW YORK (UPI)— Improvement in General Foods, International Nickel, Texaco, U.S. Steel and Goodyear Tire lifted the industrial average into new high ground for the sixth session in a row although irregularity hit some sections of the stock list.

The tire shares, oils, metals, drugs, some of the chemicals, steels and electronics showed good gains. Utilities, too, were higher on balance, with a gain of more than 2 points in Peoples Gas the chief feature.

Of a total 1,188 issues traded, 525 finished higher on the day, 425 lower.

Activity was stepped up a bit over the Friday pace, with turnover totaling 2,410,000 shares, compared with 2,270,000.

The tires showed improvement running past a point in Goodyear, General Tire, Firestone and U.S. Rubber.

Among oils, Plymouth and Texaco were the features with gains close to 2 points. Shell and Royal Dutch gained nearly a point. Jersey Standard, up ¾ point, was the day's most active issue.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grain prices were mostly lower Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ½ to up ⅜; corn off ¾ to up ⅛; oats off ½; new oats off ⅛ to ¾; rye off ½ to up ⅜ and soybeans off 1¾ to 2¾.

Reports of general rains through most of the grain belt brought on selling in the market Monday, particularly in soybeans.

Nearby wheat prices eased with scattered selling and light hedging. Small purchases by mills and expectations of a large export business helped support prices earlier.

Corn was mixed, with some firmness in the September contract. Other months were lower. A good demand for December at 113 had a steadying influence on the market.

Export subsidies were granted on 1,755,000 bushels of corn and 406,000 bushels of oats. Bids on 99,500 bushels of rye were rejected.

Oats prices weakened on selling by local longs and moderate hedging.

Rye was irregular. The futures ignored rain reports early in the session and reached new highs for the season before easing.

Soybeans led the market in the decline. Some contracts were more than 2 cents lower. Realizing sales and rain reports were influences in the losses.

No export trade was reported.

Outside markets were mixed. The Winnipeg exchange was closed because of a British holiday.

Chicago Board of Trade statisticians estimate the U.S. visible supply of wheat last week increased 7,667,000 bushels, leaving 436,034,000; corn decreased 2,538,000, leaving 87,849,000; oats increased 1,981,000, leaving 17,171,000; rye increased 1,041,000, leaving 4,093,000; barley decreased 759,000, leaving 13,237,000 and soybeans decreased 784,000, leaving 9,448,000 bushels.

Pennsylvanian Gets Sentence As Bigamist

Harris Imposes Six-Month Term

A 27-year-old Shanksville, Pa. man who pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy last week in Allegany County Circuit Court, yesterday afternoon was sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Harvey Joe Shippey was accused of marrying a girl in Westernport on March 22 while still wed to a Somerset County (Pa.) woman.

He was committed to the Allegany County jail on July 16 and Judge Harris stipulated that Shippey's sentence would begin on that date.

The case developed when Shippey was jailed in Somerset County on a charge of larceny of tires and gasoline. He was taken into custody on a charge of non-support brought by wife No. 1, the former Emma O. Valentine, who he married in 1952 in Somerset County.

He met Naomi Joan Lewis of Keyser and after obtaining a marriage license at the Court House here they were married by a minister in Westernport.

GI School Bill For Korean Vets Explained

Veterans of the Korean Conflict interested in their GI Bill schooling benefits, job training, or farm training, must begin within three years after their separation from service, according to Sam Weston, local representative of the Veterans Administration.

Many Korean veterans in Maryland, Mr. Weston said, have the mistaken impression they may enroll for training or education any time before the close of the program. This is not correct, he declared.

Once a veteran is in training or in school under the program, those separated from service before January 31, 1955, must complete their work by January 31, 1963. Those separated after January 31, 1955 must finish by January 31, 1965, or eight years from the day of discharge or separation, whichever comes first.

The VA representative outlined eligibility requirements Veterans must have active service between June 27, 1950 and February 1, 1955; must have served at least 90 days unless discharged sooner for a disability incurred in active service and must have discharge under conditions other than dishonorable.

Budget Talks May Begin Thursday

Workers Urged To Stress Need For Industries

15 Per Cent Respond To Area CIDC Drive

Officials of the Cumberland Industrial Development Company, who are raising funds to attract new industries to the area, last night joined with C. M. Sanner, CIDC drive chairman, in urging industrial employes to point up the importance of their jobs to area communities.

"With only 15 per cent responding to the drive from some 700 business and professional men in the area, the industrial worker can do a tremendous service for his community by sharing his awareness of our problems," an official CIDC statement declared.

"In an effort to make our community come alive, let the industrial worker discuss, at his bowling alley and dentist's office, with his grocery supplier and plumber, with his tavern keeper, doctor and lawyer, the simple fact that it is the payrolls of industry that make all other profits and payrolls possible."

When industry is discussed, CIDC officials point out, it is not a case of which comes first, the chicken or the egg. Industry, they say, always comes first, and with it comes people — the people who create wealth by manufacturing usable goods from natural resources.

They are not paid off in goods, as they were a thousand years ago, but with money — which they use to buy food, shelter, clothing, medical care and all of the other necessities of life, as well as the luxuries.

"In the beginning of our historic community," CIDC leaders said, "industry did not exist, but was sought out and created."

"The pay workers receive for converting natural resources into usable goods is still the bulwark of our community life, which must grow and prosper if we are to survive in today's highly competitive struggle to 'attract new and vigorous industries."

Hagerstown now has the incentive to go after new industries, the promoters of the local drive for new industry feel, since that city now has thousands of people out of work as a result of a slump in a major industry.

"The challenge to our industrial supremacy is now in our own back yard," one official declared.

All who contribute $100 or more to the current drive will have a voice in the affairs of the Cumberland Industrial Development Company.

It was pointed out that Greater Cumberland today imports raw materials from all over the world by means of the shipping, railroad and trucking industries, to be converted into usable products that are then sold all over the world to create local industrial payrolls.

"Today, as in the past, our industrial workers need goods and services — physical, mental and spiritual — and out of this need every other form of life in the community is supported," the CIDC officials concluded.

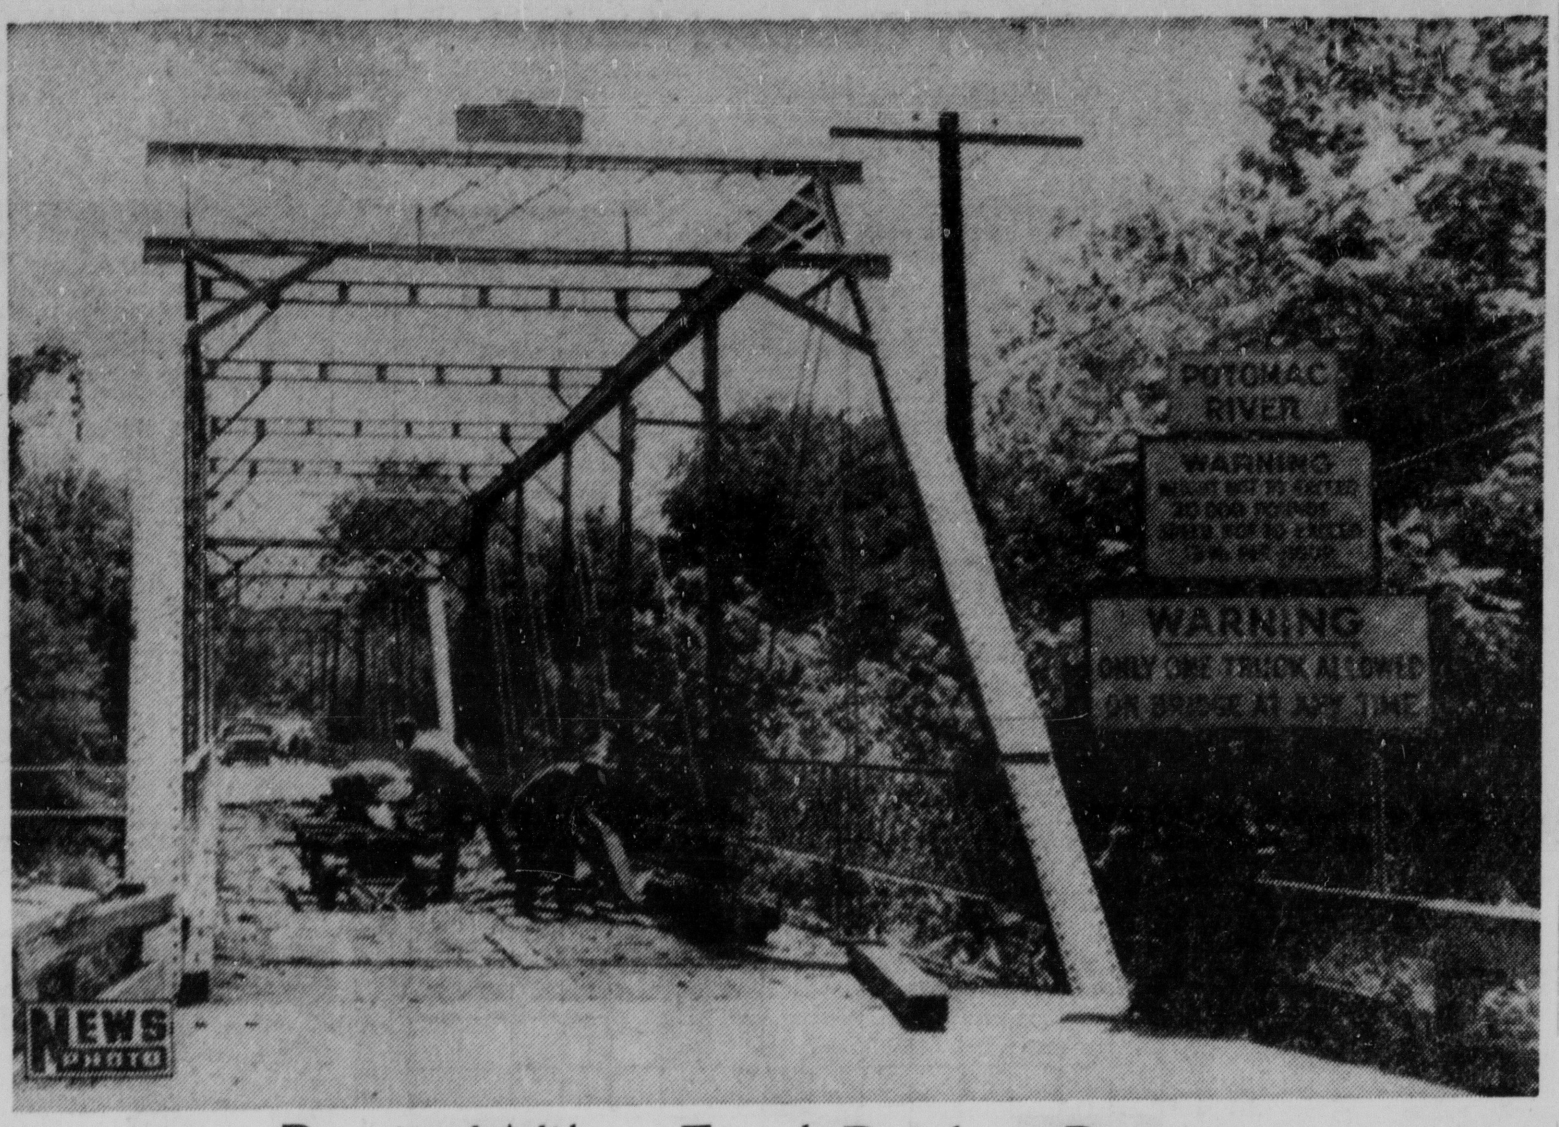
Local Red Cross, Phone Operator Assist Woman

The local Red Cross and an employe of the local branch of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company came to the rescue of a service man's wife recently when she ran out of gas and ran out of funds on a mountain several miles west of Cumberland.

The woman called the local phone office and told Mrs. Mary Sheets that she had just used her last dime in the pay station and wanted to reach her husband who was stationed with the Army at Aberdeen Proving Ground.

The service man's wife also told the local operator that her car had run out of gas, the brakes wouldn't hold on the mountains and the car was leaking oil.

Mrs. Sheets was unable to reach the woman's husband at the proving ground so she contacted the local Red Cross, which provided lodging and assistance for the beleaguered woman.



Begin Wiley Ford Bridge Repairs

Workers are making good progress on stripping the deck from the Wiley Ford Bridge seen here, which is being repaired by the Whiting-Turner construction firm under a $24,925 contract. The City of Cumberland, which is urging that pedestrians be allowed to use the span, was told yesterday by Maryland SRC officials that the contractor will have to figure today on the extra costs, such as pedestrian insurance, if foot traffic is allowed. The newest complication, officials said they were told, is that West Virginia is not willing to share the additional costs.

Four Men Pay Fines After Fight At Fire Hall

Four men were fined and given suspended jail terms yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on assault charges which arose from a disturbance late Saturday night at the Bowman's Addition Fire Hall.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt imposed $25 fines on Robert Payne, 23, of 22 Greene Street; Clarence Sarver, 23, Cleveland, Ohio, a former resident of Cumberland; Donald Westfall, 24, of RFD 1, Bowman's Addition, and Thomas Hott, 31, Bowman's Addition.

Magistrate Weatherholt also gave each man a six-month term in the House of Correction. However, he suspended the jail sentence and placed each on probation for a period of one year.

He ordered the men to stay out of all fire halls in Allegany County, and said a violation of this term of the probation would result in the six-month sentence.

113 Give Blood To Red Cross

H. D. Barber Joins Three-Gallon Club

One hundred and thirteen pints of blood were collected here yesterday afternoon when the Red Cross Bloodmobile unit from Johnstown, Pa., visited the Eagles Home. The quota was 150 pints.

When Harold D. Barber of 628 Fayette Street, gave a pint of blood yesterday, he became a member of the three-gallon club.

Mrs. John Lohnas, recruitment and scheduling chairman, said that three persons joined the two-gallon club.

They are Miss Ellen Conrad of 619 Maryland Avenue; Maurice J. Kirk, 800 Columbia Avenue, and Harry Utterbach, of 405 Bowling Avenue, Bowling Green.

Four persons who joined the one-gallon club include: Lewis M. Twigg, 74 Elnor Street, LaVale; Robert H. Holler, Patterson Creek, W. Va.; Mrs. Laura Murray, 1080 Braddock Road, and Virgil G. Morgan, 138 Springdale Street.

Mrs. Lohnas said that 80 of the 136 persons who were scheduled to give blood showed up yesterday afternoon. There were 42 "walk-ins" and six persons who gave for the first time. She said there were nine rejects.

Physicians on duty were Dr. Mark M. Kroll, Dr. Leslie Daugherty and Dr. Harold Eliason.

On September 1 the Bloodmobile unit will visit the Amcelle plant where employes there will be given an opportunity to give a pint of blood.

River Low During July

During the month of July, the observed average daily flow of the Potomac River at the Wiley Ford gauge as recorded by the local Geological Survey team, was 161 cubic feet per second or 104 million gallons per day. This represents, according to A. A. Vickers, engineer in charge, 37.1 per cent of the 30-year July average.

Daily flow varied from 123 cubic feet per second or 79½ million gallons a day on July 13, to 225 cubic feet per second or 145 million gallons a day on July 27, the report indicates.

A seasonal decrease in storage in Savage River Reservoir caused an average increase of 40 cubic feet per second or 16 million gallons per day. This is 24.8 per cent of the flow in the North Branch at Cumberland.

Total rainfall at Cumberland, as reported by the Weather Bureau for July, was 2.96 inches or .30 inches below the July average. Temperatures averaged daily 75.7 degrees, which is 1.2 degrees above normal.

Avirett and was charged with interstate transportation of a motor vehicle.

He was remanded to the Allegany County Jail in default of $2,500 bond and is awaiting transportation to Baltimore by the U.S. Marshal's office to face action in Federal District Court there.

37,390 Voters Registered In This County

First Increase Since Election

For the first time since the registration books closed last fall before the November general election, there was a boost in the number of Allegany County registered voters during the month of July.

A net gain of 15 was recorded last month as 51 registered while the names of 36 others were removed because of death. Chief reason for the increase in registration was the interest engendered in the August 18 referendum on the proposed LaVale area fire tax. July 18 was the last day to register to vote in that special election.

As of August 1 there were 37,390 registered voters in Allegany County, 21,110 Republicans, 16,010 Democrats, 258 who declined to give party affiliation, 10 Socialists and two other parties.

John R. Kelly, chief clerk, said yesterday that four persons changed party affiliation during the month of July. Three Republican males changed their affiliation to the Democratic party while a Republican female decided to become a Democrat.

GI School Bill For Korean Vets Explained

Veterans of the Korean Conflict interested in their GI Bill schooling benefits, job training, or farm training, must begin within three years after their separation from service, according to Sam Weston, local representative of the Veterans Administration.

Many Korean veterans in Maryland, Mr. Weston said, have the mistaken impression they may enroll for training or education any time before the close of the program. This is not correct, he declared.

Once a veteran is in training or in school under the program, those separated from service before January 31, 1955, must complete their work by January 31, 1963. Those separated after January 31, 1955 must finish by January 31, 1965, or eight years from the day of discharge or separation, whichever comes first.

The VA representative outlined eligibility requirements Veterans must have active service between June 27, 1950 and February 1, 1955; must have served at least 90 days unless discharged sooner for a disability incurred in active service and must have discharge under conditions other than dishonorable.

Workers Urged To Stress Need For Industries

15 Per Cent Respond To Area CIDC Drive

Officials of the Cumberland Industrial Development Company, who are raising funds to attract new industries to the area, last night joined with C. M. Sanner, CIDC drive chairman, in urging industrial employes to point up the importance of their jobs to area communities.

"With only 15 per cent responding to the drive from some 700 business and professional men in the area, the industrial worker can do a tremendous service for his community by sharing his awareness of our problems," an official CIDC statement declared.

"In an effort to make our community come alive, let the industrial worker discuss, at his bowling alley and dentist's office, with his grocery supplier and plumber, with his tavern keeper, doctor and lawyer, the simple fact that it is the payrolls of industry that make all other profits and payrolls possible."

When industry is discussed, CIDC officials point out, it is not a case of which comes first, the chicken or the egg. Industry, they say, always comes first, and with it comes people — the people who create wealth by manufacturing usable goods from natural resources.

They are not paid off in goods, as they were a thousand years ago, but with money — which they use to buy food, shelter, clothing, medical care and all of the other necessities of life, as well as the luxuries.

"In the beginning of our historic community," CIDC leaders said, "industry did not exist, but was sought out and created."

"The pay workers receive for converting natural resources into usable goods is still the bulwark of our community life, which must grow and prosper if we are to survive in today's highly competitive struggle to 'attract new and vigorous industries."

Hagerstown now has the incentive to go after new industries, the promoters of the local drive for new industry feel, since that city now has thousands of people out of work as a result of a slump in a major industry.

"The challenge to our industrial supremacy is now in our own back yard," one official declared.

All who contribute $100 or more to the current drive will have a voice in the affairs of the Cumberland Industrial Development Company.

It was pointed out that Greater Cumberland today imports raw materials from all over the world by means of the shipping, railroad and trucking industries, to be converted into usable products that are then sold all over the world to create local industrial payrolls.

"Today, as in the past, our industrial workers need goods and services — physical, mental and spiritual — and out of this need every other form of life in the community is supported," the CIDC officials concluded.

Local Red Cross, Phone Operator Assist Woman

The local Red Cross and an employe of the local branch of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company came to the rescue of a service man's wife recently when she ran out of gas and ran out of funds on a mountain several miles west of Cumberland.

The woman called the local phone office and told Mrs. Mary Sheets that she had just used her last dime in the pay station and wanted to reach her husband who was stationed with the Army at Aberdeen Proving Ground.

The service man's wife also told the local operator that her car had run out of gas, the brakes wouldn't hold on the mountains and the car was leaking oil.

Mrs. Sheets was unable to reach the woman's husband at the proving ground so she contacted the local Red Cross, which provided lodging and assistance for the beleaguered woman.

During the month of July, the observed average daily flow of the Potomac River at the Wiley Ford gauge as recorded by the local Geological Survey team, was 161 cubic feet per second or 104 million gallons per day. This represents, according to A. A. Vickers, engineer in charge, 37.1 per cent of the 30-year July average.

37,390 Voters Registered In This County

First Increase Since Election

For the first time since the registration books closed last fall before the November general election, there was a boost in the number of Allegany County registered voters during the month of July.

A net gain of 15 was recorded last month as 51 registered while the names of 36 others were removed because of death. Chief reason for the increase in registration was the interest engendered in the August 18 referendum on the proposed LaVale area fire tax. July 18 was the last day to register to vote in that special election.

As of August 1 there were 37,390 registered voters in Allegany County, 21,110 Republicans, 16,010 Democrats, 258 who declined to give party affiliation, 10 Socialists and two other parties.
